port district board, and E.B. Anderson, president of Bulk Service, holding bar used to open the unloading mechanism on rail cars. The rail car that is visible is owned by the Archer-Daniels-Midland grain processors and represents the millionth ton. (Related pictures on page 16.) (Press-Record Photo)

Tammy dies on Christmas

Five-year-old Tamara Ranae "Tammy" Hinchey, who was guest of honor at an early Christmas party Dec. 23, died at 11:55 a.m. Saturday, Christmas Day.

The young leukemia victim entered Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis, on Dec. 17—continuing her year-long fight for recovery but steadily growing weaker. She was able to give slight recognition to her parents on Christmas Eve, but then slipped deeper into a coma and died peacefully the next morning.

It was on the day after Christmas 1975 that her illness was diagnosed. Tammy joined a Wilson School kindergarten class this fall but in recent weeks had been confined to studies at her home and occasional indoor games with neighbor children. Santa visited her home at 2 Watertown Circle on Dec. 13, bringing gifts and joining her in singing Christmas carols.

"She was such a lovely child" was the conclusion of those who knew her, including her classmates, some of whom visited at her casket at a Granite City funeral home.

The kindergarten class members jointly prepared a 34½-foot Christmas card that was shown at her 12-days-early holiday party.

Born in St. Louis, she was a Granite City resident for four years. She and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hinchey, were in the St. Louis area at the time of her death.

Development '77 projects

Grant applications totaling $733,718 were submitted last week by District Two (the Quad-City area) to the Madison County Community Development office, but those applications are expected to be trimmed somewhat, since only $663,943 is available for this district.

The final grant application was prepared during a meeting of the district-wide officials in the office of the district chairman, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, Tuesday morning.

Several changes were made in the applications prior to final district approval. All of the applications now are subject to revision or approval by the Madison County Community Development Office.

Granite City is applying for $370,000 in funds for two projects. A total of $245,000 is sought for reconstructing sanitary sewers and $125,000 is sought for the development of a security system for senior citizens. The type of security system is not known, but several are being studied.

Madison is applying for $40,000 for an urban renewal program, including tearing down dilapidated buildings, and $25,000 as partial payment for a new fire truck.

Venice would like $95,596, all for sidewalk improvements. Venice Township has applied for $30,000 to be used for park improvements and community center remodeling, both in Eagle Park Acres.

Chouteau Township seeks $45,720, all of which will be applied toward the cost of constructing a new town hall and community center building. All federal revenue sharing and community development funds the township has received to date have been devoted to that building and a recently completed township highway department garage.

Pontoon Beach is applying for $26,400 to complete a surface drainage system north of Georgetown Drive from Route 111 to Long Lake and $3,000 for street improvements.

The application for Nameoki Township was the most extensively changed as the county office informed officials it would accept applications for only three types of projects and nameoki township had applied for four types.

It was decided to limit the application to projects dealing with water, fire protection and sewer hookups, so a $5,000 application for remodeling the

EDA funds for Venice's bridge

A federal grant of $361,480 for the city of Venice to rebuild the Illinois approach to McKinley bridge was among funds approved Thursday by the Economic Development Agency under the Local Public Works Act.

But at the same time the agency failed to list for approval an $8.5 million fund sought by Madison County for supplemental funding for construction of sanitary sewers in Nameoki, Venice and Act.

Freeman suffers critical wound

Larry Freeman, 23, of 2028 Russell St., suffered a gunshot wound to his back during a disturbance about 10:45 p.m. Sunday in Kirkpatrick Homes and is in critical condition at Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

Police were called to 4912 Kirkpatrick Homes at 10:55 p.m. Sunday on a report of a disturbance and found Freeman unconscious on the floor at the bottom of the stairs in that apartment.

Officers noticed only a small cut to his left eyebrow and abrasions to his face, chest and around his left eye and called for an ambulance.

Freeman was taken to the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Hospital where doctors discovered a gunshot wound to his left upper back with possible spinal injuries.

He suffered paralysis of his legs which may be temporary, officials noted. He then was transferred to the St. Louis Hospital at 1:15 a.m. today.

Police questioned numerous people in and near the apartment and arrested two persons, while bringing numerous other persons to the police station for questioning by detectives.

Cynthia Jones, who police said also uses the name Cindy (Continued on Page 12)

Chouteau townships, and turned down a request for a $1.6 million grant by Granite City for construction of a new municipal building.

Also rejected in the EDA list was another request by Madison County for $3.5 million for a new county jail.

The award to Venice for the bridge approach project was the only Quad-City area project on a list of accepted projects released by the U.S. Department of Commerce's EDA which is handling distribution of $2 billion in development funds nationwide.

Applications for public projects were filed following passage of the Public Works Act earlier this year.

Among other projects not on the approved list were two applications by Lewis & Clark Community College—one for $4.9 million for a learning resources center and another for $2.8 million for a physical education sports complex.

In addition to the grant for Venice, the only other Madison County project on the approved list was $303,500 for the village (Continued on Page 3)

Just the thing for New Year party

If one is planning to invite about 850 friends over for a New Year's Eve party or New Year's Day visit, and hasn't yet decided what to serve, the problem may be solved.

Charles Hester of Charlie's Restaurant handled food planning for Granite City's end-of-the-year Bicentennial ball and could offer these suggestions for hors d'oeuvres: 2,100 stuffed olives, 2,000 deviled eggs, 1,500 meat balls with red sauce, 2,000 sauerkraut balls, 2,100 stuffed olives with salami, and 2,000 each of cheese squares, puffs filled with chicken liver pate, bacon-wrapped chicken livers, toasted ravioli, Swedish meat balls and pineapple squares with bacon. And, for good measure, add 1,800 chicken "drumsticks" and 2,000 chicken salad and cheese appetizers.

26th traffic death of '76

A young South Roxana woman was injured fatally Thursday evening, becoming the 26th Quad-City area traffic victim of 1976.

The 1975 highway and street fatality toll here was 30. The woman was involved in a one-car accident on Highway 111, one-half mile north of Interstate 270.

Miss Karen O'Dell, 21, of 808 Illinois Ave., South Roxana, initially was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, Granite City, where she was given emergency treatment for multiple abrasions and cuts to the abdomen and both legs at 6:40 p.m.

She was unconscious, and her life-supporting breathing and reactions systems were considered "poor." She was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis and died at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at Firmin Desloge.

State troopers said Miss O'Dell was alone in her car when apparently she lost control. The auto traveled off the roadway and struck a guardrail.

The vehicle then turned over and crashed against a retaining levee wall at the Hartford Canal.

The deaths last week of Mrs. Kathleen Ann Fields, 29, and her three-year-old son, John Christopher Fields Jr., in a three-car traffic accident on Highway 162 had brought to 26 the number of traffic fatalities in the Quad-City area during 1976.

The current 26 figure is with five days remaining in the year. Joint funeral services for Mrs. Fields and her son, both former residents of Venice, were held Friday morning at St. Mark's Roman Catholic Church in Venice. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

While the current tally of traffic deaths during the year is a reduction from the total of 30 fatalities in 1975, the number of accidents in the Quad-City area and the number of persons injured in those accidents has jumped sharply over those of the previous year.

Statistics compiled by the Press-Record show a total of 760 accidents in which drivers or passengers were injured, during the 12 months and through late December, with a total of 1,079 persons injured. During all of 1975, there were 601 injury accidents in which 908 persons were hurt.

On the basis of these figures, the number of injury accidents during the current year are up by 26.6 per cent over those of the previous year, and the number of persons injured this year is 18.4 per cent higher than last year's 12-month total.

Injuries in this year's statistics include those of Deputy Sheriff John A. "Jack" Fields, 29, and his seven-year-old daughter, Colleen, who were injured in the accident last week that took the lives of Mrs. Fields and her son.

The accident occurred on Highway 162 a half-mile west of Lake Drive at 5:06 p.m. Wednesday.

TANGLED WRECKAGE of the small foreign car in which Mrs. Kathleen Ann Fields, 29, and her son, John Christopher Fields Jr., 3, lost their lives on Route 162 a half-mile west of Lake Drive last week. Sgt. John

Blood donors provide platelets to keep cancer patients alive

(The second of a three-part feature concerning blood availability, to all; distribution of blood to area hospitals; and collection, processing, research and usage of blood in preventive medicine at the Missouri Regional Red Cross Blood Center, St. Louis.)

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer

The lives of hundreds of cancer and leukemia patients on chemotherapy literally are in the hands of you, the people who will donate blood in the three-day blood drive, starting today under sponsorship of Church Women United of the Quad-Cities, and in the hands of those falling to donate.

The Red Cross bloodmobiles will be located at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Johnson and Ponton Roads, from 2 p.m. until 4:45 p.m. today and during the same hours on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Anyone can give blood who is 17 years and over, weighs less than 110 pounds and is in good health.

Importance of the holiday blood drive is further accentuated this Christmas because of increasing use of blood platelets, vital to cancer and leukemia patients undergoing chemotherapy at the Missouri Regional Red Cross Blood Center. The area includes St. Elizabeth Hospital here.

Using blood components in preventive and restorative medicine is a concept coming and increasing in scope day-by-day.

Physicians are now giving patients only that part of blood best suited to treat a particular illness.

Red Cells are given to patients who have certain liver or kidney diseases; cryoprecipitate is used for hemophiliacs (bleeders); and frozen plasma is given in treatment of shock; serum albumin for burns; and also treatment for shock in accidents; and packed cells (cells without plasma) are used particularly when there is a heart condition so the volume is kept down and less load is imposed on the heart.

Whole blood primarily is used when volume and blood are required together, such as in accidents and major surgery cases. Such a component is a platelet, a fragile part of the blood needed by cancer and leukemia patients on chemotherapy and only good for 72 hours after its extraction.

A tour of the Missouri-Illinois Regional Red Cross Blood Center, 4650 Lindell Blvd., St. Louis, has the immediate impact of forcing one to recognize the need for more blood donations to sustain more lives.

Miss Jill Hadden, director of Donor Resources and Development for the Missouri-Illinois Red Cross, said, "Our goal is to produce 150 platelets per day and to meet the needs of those people unfortunate to need blood of any type in the 167 hospitals we serve in Southern Illinois and Eastern Missouri."

Incredibly, four per cent of the population of the United States supports the blood needs of the entire nation, it was learned. Most of these donors are repeaters.

"Thank God for these good people," Miss Hadden said. "Why don't people give blood when their gift can save a life?"

Many don't understand why there is a need, the director said. Or, don't realize how vital it is to those undergoing surgery, victims of accidents and patients ill with leukemia and cancer, she added.

"Some are terrified of the unknown, but everyone feels that way the first time," Miss Hadden commented. Donating blood has become a habit with many people and a few regulars have become 15 gallon donors, or give three and four times a year.

Others are afraid too much blood will be taken.

miss this need. The average adult has 8 to 10 platelets units per transfusion, while some very ill patients may need as many as 20 or 30 units daily.

There are three problems the Red Cross faces in producing platelets.

One is that it can take no longer than 10 minutes for a donor to give blood. If it takes even a few seconds longer to make a donation, blood that had been scheduled for platelet production will have to be used for something else.

The second problem is that if platelets are to be made from whole blood, the plasma must be separated from the red cells within four hours after the blood is collected.

This time factor means that a blood collection site can be no longer than an hour's drive from the Red Cross blood center if platelets are to be made from its blood.

The most important factor relating to platelet production and usage is that they must be transfused within 72 hours after their production.

Miss Hadden said the platelet supply in our region is at its lowest during the coming holidays.

"We really need all our good friends in the Quad-City area to help us at this time to secure sufficient blood, not only to keep our cancer and leukemia patients adequately supplied, but to meet the needs of the area's health care system."

Miss Hadden said the blood requests and shipping information for 167 hospitals. Daily, orders for blood are received by telephone and teletype (foreground). Large hospitals, such as Barnes, frequently need additional blood several times daily. Emergency shipments are delivered by truck and station wagon, or by Missouri Highway Patrol officers and volunteer pilots from the Missouri Pilots Association to outlying hospitals.

"This is not true," the director stressed. "Less than a pint is all that is taken and your body manufactures new blood constantly."

"The volume you give will be replaced within a few hours and most people go about their usual activities after donating."

If you weigh 110 pounds or more you can be a donor.

In Illinois, 70-year-olds may donate blood without parental consent. In Missouri, consent is needed until 18 years old.

The average adult has about 10 to 12 pints of blood in his body and physicians say that healthy people may give regularly without ill effects.

"Some people think that only elderly patients or someone who is dying gets a pint of blood," Miss Hadden said. "They also think they will never need blood themselves."

"They forget the number of deer hunting accidents, farm mishaps and of course, motorcycle and auto accidents."

Miss Hadden continued, "They are not thinking of the patients undergoing surgery and may not be aware that all doctors now require blood in the operating room, regardless of the severity of the surgery, just in case a problem should develop."

"There is something about giving blood that is depressing. It is a sad thought and we try hard not to think about sad things," the director said.

"But, what is sad for one is life to another. Different things make different people happy and what to you is usual to another may mean an entirely different thing."

"That really needs explaining and reminds me of an incident taking place recently. We gathered platelets for two young people each Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Both had leukemia and were patients at a St. Louis County hospital."

"One was an 18-year-old high school senior, a boy, and the other the young mother of a 6-month-old infant."

The blood platelets were the only thing keeping them alive. The boy remarked to me one day that he sure kept busy collecting the blood for him. "I only hope I am going to live to see my birthday in two months," he said.

"Most of us want to forget our birthday, but this was the only thing he wanted: there's the difference in what's important to one person."

"How important life is to him and how much he values it, such as giving blood which keeps him alive."

Remember, when you give blood it is the most unselfish act you can do — giving a little bit of yourself.

"People do beautiful things for charity, but what is more directly related to saving a life and more charitable than donating blood," the director said.

Blood consists of several different elements or components: red cells, white cells, plasma and platelets.

Each component has a different job to do to keep our bodies functioning properly in good health.

The production of platelets and their distribution is a large part of the blood center's operation and the platelet processing area in among its most busiest.

At least 150 platelets are needed every day for cancer and leukemia patients on chemotherapy. The reason is while chemotherapy is destroying diseased cells in the cancer and leukemia patients, it is also destroying the person's bone marrow, where platelets are produced in a healthy person.

Platelets help blood clot by rushing to the scene of heavy bleeding and sealing little wounds to halt the flow of blood.

Patients with aplastic anemia are unable to produce their own platelets as the disease itself causes dysfunctions in platelet production.

"Because these patients cannot make their own platelets, they must depend on transfusions of this blood component from other people," Miss Hadden explained.

The Red Cross Blood Center makes platelets each week, day and 85 each Saturday to meet this need. The average adult has 8 to 10 platelets units per transfusion, while some very ill patients may need as many as 20 or 30 units daily.

There are three problems the Red Cross faces in producing platelets.

The other car crashed head-on into another auto. Five persons were hurt.

Fields was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in serious condition and was admitted. The daughter, Colleen, was released.

The area started the year with an unequalled traffic fatality rate for the first three months. There were no traffic fatalities during January, February and March and for the first 11 days of April.

During the same period in 1975, five persons were killed. On April 12, George Salisbury, 63, Pevely, Mo., driver of a tractor trailer truck, became the area's first 1976 traffic victim when his truck ran off the exit ramp from Interstate 270 to southbound Route 111. GC council upholds permits in actions by appeals board

The Granite City council concurred last week in a recommendation by its Zoning Board of Appeals that a permit be issued to Ralph Monken, 1521 Cottage Ave., to permit Monken to construct a garage 3.5 feet from the side property line.

Council members voted 10 to 3 to approve the permit. The council also concurred in the appeals board action following lengthy discussion in which Monken and Claude Meyers, 1517 Cottage Ave., protesting the action, were permitted to speak before the council.

George Moran, attorney representing Meyers, described the appeals board action granting the permit as "discriminatory," noting that the 3.5-foot distance from the sidewalk was violation of an agreement between Monken and Meyers for a 4-foot limitation which had been reached before the matter went before the appeals board.

Meyers had told the Board of Appeals in its Dec. 8 meeting that construction of the garage at that point would shade his garden, and that the Monken property was higher than that of property on each side of him, a flooding area on both sides of the Monken property during heavy rains.

Monken, however, told the council that the reverse was true, that his property is lower than that on either side of him. In addition, Monken said he had inspected the garages of many residents in his area and found them to be far closer to the side property lines than his would be — some of them a matter of inches.

Monken maintained that 90 per cent of the garages in his neighborhood are closer than his. He also noted that zoning laws provide that the zoning officer may, in his discretion, waive the 75 per cent of property within an area establishes a precedent before the zoning law became effective.

Alderman Emerald Dawes of the Seventh Ward remarked that the dispute "is a fight between two neighbors and involves only side property lines. It is true that about 90 per cent of the garages in that area are anywhere from one to three feet from the side property line.

A recommendation by Alderman Gerald Parmley of the Sixth Ward, council members voted 10 to 3 in favor of granting the permit to Monken and concurring in the appeals board action. Voting against the permit to Monken and concurring in the appeals board action were Aldermen Warren Decatur, Curtis Blevins and Glen Sprankle.

At the same time the council upheld appeals board actions granting a permit to build an office room addition three feet from the rear property line on property at 2038 Edison Ave., a request by a representative of the Callis, Schooley, Filcott and Hartman law firm.

Also approved was a request by Richard Werthe, 2507-09 Hodges Ave., for construction of a garage one foot from the side property line. The council also concurred in appeals board approval of a permit for Cecil M. Simpson, 2933 Pershing Ave., to build a carport five feet from the side property line.

Driver hurt in 4-car crash

A four-car accident at 5:05 a.m. Friday near the McCambridge Avenue viaduct south of Madison, resulted in injury to the driver of one vehicle, Eugene Beltrando, 2070 40th Alton Road.

A Madison County Sheriff Department spokesman said Beltrando was driving north on McCambridge when apparently he lost control and crossed the center line, striking a southbound vehicle driven by Edward Jell, 119 Wilson Park Lane.

Another northbound auto, operated by Darnice Franklin, 1224 Douglas St., Venice, and a southbound vehicle driven by Vicki Skerle, 3232 Willow Ave., also collided, the spokesman said.

Beltrando was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment and then transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, upon complaining of pains in his head, neck and face and of numbness to both legs.

The production of platelets and their distribution is a large part of the blood center's operation and the platelet processing area in among its most busiest.

At least 150 platelets are needed every day for cancer and leukemia patients on chemotherapy. The reason is while chemotherapy is destroying diseased cells in the cancer and leukemia patients, it is also destroying the person's bone marrow, where platelets are produced in a healthy person.

Platelets help blood clot by rushing to the scene of heavy bleeding and sealing little wounds to halt the flow of blood.

Patients with aplastic anemia are unable to produce their own platelets as the disease itself causes dysfunctions in platelet production.

"Because these patients cannot make their own platelets, they must depend on transfusions of this blood component from other people," Miss Hadden explained.

The Red Cross Blood Center makes platelets each week, day and 85 each Saturday to meet this need. The average adult has 8 to 10 platelets units per transfusion, while some very ill patients may need as many as 20 or 30 units daily.

There are three problems the Red Cross faces in producing platelets.

One is that it can take no longer than 10 minutes for a donor to give blood. If it takes even a few seconds longer to make a donation, blood that had been scheduled for platelet production will have to be used for something else.

The second problem is that if platelets are to be made from whole blood, the plasma must be separated from the red cells within four hours after the blood is collected.

This time factor means that a blood collection site can be no longer than an hour's drive from the Red Cross blood center if platelets are to be made from its blood.

The most important factor relating to platelet production and usage is that they must be transfused within 72 hours after their production.

Miss Hadden said the platelet supply in our region is at its lowest during the coming holidays.

"We really need all our good friends in the Quad-City area to help us at this time to secure sufficient blood, not only to keep our cancer and leukemia patients adequately supplied, but to meet the needs of the area's health care system."

Miss Hadden said the blood requests and shipping information for 167 hospitals. Daily, orders for blood are received by telephone and teletype (foreground). Large hospitals, such as Barnes, frequently need additional blood several times daily. Emergency shipments are delivered by truck and station wagon, or by Missouri Highway Patrol officers and volunteer pilots from the Missouri Pilots Association to outlying hospitals.

"This is not true," the director stressed. "Less than a pint is all that is taken and your body manufactures new blood constantly."

Truck hits pole today

A tractor-trailer truck, making a delivery to the Record office, 1815 Delmar Ave., struck a street lighting pole in front of the building at 8:20 a.m. today, breaking the pole and dropping a live power wire on the sidewalk.

TWO TRAILERS BURGLARIZED

Occupants of trailers at 5445 Maryville Road reported to Madison County authorities that their homes had been burglarized.

J. B. Nichols said at 12:30 a.m. Saturday that someone forced open a door on his trailer and removed an electric drill valued at $20, assorted jewelry valued at $125, and $10 worth of cash.

Ten minutes later, Vincent Feldman reported his trailer had been entered by prying open a window, and an eight-track tape deck and a 22 caliber revolver were taken.

AUTO BURGLARIES

Two autos belonging to Dan Brooks, 1821 Ferguson Ave., were reported entered by a burglar at 8:35 p.m. Friday. Two pairs of prescription glasses valued at $75 and a $10 pair of opera glasses were removed from one auto, and speakers valued at $40 taken from the second auto.

Four persons, including a fourth-grade Granite City youth, were killed in a head-on collision on Illinois 159 about a half mile north of Interstate 70, Maryville, Ill., at 2:30 a.m. Sunday.

Police reported an auto driven by Leo D. Zellin Jr., 19, of Rural Route Seven, Edwardsville, was northbound on 159 and the other car, driven by Robert D. Watson, 22, of Maryland Heights, Mo., was headed south on 159.

Zellin, Watson and a passenger in the Watson auto, Miss Jan Groninger, 19, of St. Louis, were pronounced dead at 3 a.m. at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner James Laughlin.

Another passenger in the Watson car, Michael L'Ecuier, 19, of St. Louis, was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Police said Zellin, who was alone, was driving north when he crossed the center line, colliding head-on with the south-bound vehicle driven by Watson.

Zellin was born in Granite City. He was employed as a caster for the Amax Zinc Co., East St. Louis, and a 1975 graduate of Collinsville High School.

He was a member of Our Mother of Perpetual Help Catholic Church, Maryville. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. (Jean Bag) Zellin of Edwardsville; one sister, Mrs. Jay (Cheryl) Miller and two brothers, John and Greg Zellin, all of Edwardsville; grandparents, John Bag of Granite City and Mrs. Mildred Simmons of Henderson, Ky., and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Lillian Maury of Henderson, Ky.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

of Worden for a new sewer, pumping station and water treatment facility which would create 50 construction jobs.

Henry B. Jenkins, an EDA spokesman at Washington, said projects that were not on a list of 2,000 projects scheduled for final processing are no longer in the running for EDA funds.

The Local Public Works Act of 1976 was passed to spur construction of public works jobs and to create employment.

Competition among local government agencies was intense. One source reported that there were 1,600 applications in Illinois for 60 available grants.

Of the total nationwide funds, the total allotted for Illinois communities was $64 million.

No reason for rejection of the projects was given. Jenkins said the criteria used in approving grants included the number of unemployed in the area, the unemployment rate and family income.

Madison County had a 7.6 percent unemployment rate, according to the latest available figures for September, but the nationwide unemployment rate last month was 8.1 percent.

Jenkins said 30 percent of the state's allocation was earmarked for areas which had unemployment rates above the national average. Thus, he noted, it was possible for an area to have a high unemployment rate and still have its project rejected.

The rejection of the county's application for $8,500,000 for supplemental funding for construction of the Area One sanitary sewer system and regional funding for Areas Two and Three for sanitary sewers leaves the county count down the present county jail which is more than 100 years old.

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, has filed applications for $5 million for Area One sewers, $1,750,000 for Area Two (State Park Place) and $1,300,000 for Area Three Eagle Park Acres and Cloverleaf area) after residents of Areas Two and Three objected to the costs and funding was eliminated.

Other projects in this area that failed to win approval included a request by the city of Madison for $514,600 for an addition to the city garage, an addition to the city hall and several city demolition projects.

Also on the unapproved list was a request by Granite City School District 9 for $225,350 for a vocational-education addition at Granite City High School.

Madison County is expected to resume planning for construction of a $4 million county jail building instead of trying to build one under bids totaling $6.3 million received last May. The county sold $4 million in general obligation bonds in December 1974.

When bids totaled $6.5 million instead of the expected $4 million, Hagnauer applied for the $3.5 million in EDA funds. Hagnauer said that as soon as the county is notified officially that the project has been turned down he will meet with the county's building committee and the architect "and we'll just have to build a $4 million jail."

He noted that the county could build a jail building adequate to meet standards of the Illinois Department of Corrections, although it would have to be smaller and some items eliminated from the original plans.

He admitted, however, that by the time the jail is ready for occupancy, it may be inadequate for the county's needs. The state in recent years has been threatening to close down the present county jail which is more than 100 years old.

neighboring St. Clair County, applicants fared better than those in Madison County. East St. Louis received approval of a $4.5 million sanitary sewer reconstruction program, and the Bi-State Development Agency is on the approved list for construction of a 8,000 square foot terminal building at Bi-State Parks Airport at Cahokia with a grant of $1.7 million.

Stites Township is to receive a $400,000 grant for a health and senior citizens center in Brooklyn.

An application by East St. Louis for a $4 million grant to build a new city hall was among the rejected projects.

Schools

less public backing for school proposals in the surrounding area. Edwardsville and Collinsville residents cast negative votes in recent days on school district proposals.

The Illinois School Law of 1855 provided for tax-supported local schools.

Newton Bateman, secretary and traveling agent of the Illinois State Teachers Association organized in 1853, served as a Civil War school superintendent.

He was responsible for including in the Constitution of 1870 the section requiring the General Assembly to "provide a thorough and efficient system of free schools, whereby all children of this state may receive a good common education."

The state's first compulsory attendance law was passed in 1883.

In the new tax-supported enterprise, pupils learned by rote the three R's, plus geography.

In the 1880s fear of radicals and anarchists inspired the addition of many civics courses. Students memorized the state and federal constitutions, but were left on their own to interpret them.

What was learned? "Facts, my dear sir, facts; names of capitals, rivers, cities, mountains, lakes, chief products of countries bounded by."

Spelling was important, and spellingdown champions sneered at such challenges as "phthisic" and "assessable."

Teachers knew only slightly more than their pupils and were certified at week-long county superintendents' institutes.

Salaries were low—lower for women than for men.

According to one contemporary school board member, "A woman just ain't worth thirty dollars a month."

It was all carefully organized, as witnessed by the following document, typical of the period.

"Rules and Regulations for the Government of the Public Schools."

1. "All children between the ages of five and 21 years, who reside in the school district, have a right to the privilege of the public school."

2. "No pupil shall be allowed to attend school, unless furnished with the textbooks and stationery, as required."

3. "Any pupil who has been exposed to, or who is afflicted with, any contagious disease, shall not attend school until all danger of contagion is removed."

4. "No pupil shall leave one school to attend another, without the written consent of the directors."

5. "Regular and punctual attendance is required of every pupil; and for repeated absence or tardiness, say, for the space of four half days in two successive weeks, such pupil shall forfeit his or her seat, unless, they shall present a written excuse from the parent or guardian, stating such absence to have been caused by sickness, or other unavoidable circumstances."

6. "No pupil shall leave school before the hour of closing, without permission of the teacher."

7. "No pupil shall be absent from any examination of the school."

8. "Every pupil shall pay for all damages he or she may do to the school building or furniture, or the property of other pupils, and may be suspended until payment is made."

9. "Nor shall any pupil use or write profane or unchaste language in or about any of the school buildings, or in any manner deface the public school property."

10. "All books, papers, periodicals, or novels having no connection with the school studies are prohibited from being brought into the school."

11. "Pupils are strictly forbidden to engage in play or sport, within the halls or rooms of the building, unless under the direction of their teacher."

12. "Nor shall they enter the adjoining lots of citizens, or in

State Park Community Center had to be transferred into another category.

During that meeting, it was decided to transfer the $3,000 into a fund for a down payment on a new State Park Fire Truck, increasing that category from $10,000 to $13,000.

Other applications from Namaholi Township included $20,000 to place a larger water main to the Cloverleaf Subdivision so fire hydrants can be installed there; $25,000 into a fund to help senior citizens pay the cost of tapping onto proposed new sanitary sewers, and $35,000 to aid the Long Lake Fire Department construct a new fire garage.

The township previously had to transfer $10,000 into the State Park Fire Department fund from a category to provide a tornado warning system for the Arlington Heights subdivision when the county office ruled it was not a legitimate use for the money under the Community Development guidelines. It was the second attempt by the township to use a grant for that purpose both being rejected because Civil Defense funds are available for that purpose.

During the meeting, it was announced the county has awarded its discretionary funds for both the 1976 and 1977 years to various projects in the county.

Chouteau Township was the only entity in this district to receive 1976 discretionary funds as another $22,000 was approved for the community center and town hall building.

Other 1976 approvals included $13,450 to the Worden area for a feasibility study to determine if a new Northeast Central County Public Water District can be created; $23,550 was granted to Omphigment Township for payment on a Prairietown fire truck; and $5,000 was granted to Hamlet for a water well.

Approved for funding under the 1977 discretionary fund program were $35,000 cleanup program sponsored by the Eagle Park Community Improvement Association; $50,000 for housing rehabilitation in Madison; $35,000 for water system improvements in Worden and $55,000 for a new water well in Alhambra.

Stallings student musical concert

A musical concert directed by Kenneth Jones, music teacher at Stallings School, was presented following the monthly PTA meeting, last week by the fourth, fifth and sixth grade students.

Highlight of the presentation by the sixth graders included a poem read by Brad Hart, a piano solo by Terri Counts, an instrumental duet by Capt. Gaudette playing the coronet and Angela Sheeley playing the flute.

Other sixth grade singers were Chris Hessel, Sheila Roseman, Steve Nolan and Kevin Daum and Matt Yarbrough on the guitar.

Fifth graders, Mary Beth Miles, Gayla Vaughn, Kenny Cann and Scott LaRue sang a Christmas carol and fourth grade pupils, Susan Bourland and Daniel Jorgensen sang a duet.

The program was then turned over to Mrs. Phyllis Meyer, hospitality chairman who led the audience singing carols accompanied by Jones on the piano.

Santa arrived after the singing and distributed candy canes to all the children and refreshments were served by the fourth grade room mothers.

President Judy Kopehak opened the meeting and Ralph Craycraft, a sixth grade teacher, read the prayer and led the pledge of allegiance.

During the meeting Pat Patterson, membership chairman, presented a check for $10 and a membership award to the third grade class of Mrs. Ruth Buer, for having the largest number of parents joining the PTA.

The room attendance award and $5 was given to the fourth grade class of Mrs. Debbie Wofford. Other prize winners included Mrs. Shirley Gaudette and Mrs. Donna Waters and the handmade quilt was won by Mrs. Mary Jane Davis, kindergarten teacher.

Opti-Mrs. Christmas luncheon

Mrs. Maurice Dailey, of Edwardsville, entertained the Granite City Noon Day Opti-Mrs. Club, in her home, assisted by Mrs. Charles Thurber, Mrs. Russell Johnson, Mrs. Wallace Wynant and Mrs. David Parrish.

Red candles and greenery were used to decorate the luncheon tables and tiny Christmas ornaments were given to each guest as favors.

Mrs. Douglas Little opened the meeting, with the Optimist Creed read by Mrs. Ray Henley.

Mrs. Carl Rant introduced two guests, Mrs. William Monical and Mrs. James Winning.

Mrs. Leo Kozens and Mrs. Rant gave reports on the student nurse, Miss Cheryl Smith. There were 28 members and 3 guests present.

A gift exchange followed the business meeting and Mrs. Gene Nelson announced the next meeting will be held at Charlie's Restaurant.

Pashea-Miller nuptials at St. Elizabeth Church

Mrs. John Pashea, the former Miss Jacquelyn L. Miller whose wedding was solemnized at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Miller, 4121 Maryville Road.

The Rev. Rector, Lawrence Mattingly officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7 a'clock.

Prior to the arrival of the wedding party Mrs. Vickie Simpson sang, "Wedding Song," "The First-Time Ever I Saw Your Face," "Follow Me," "Colour My World" and "Ave Maria" accompanied by Larry Smallie.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride, chose an ivory satin chignon gown fashioned with a peach dangle lace capelet collar to accent the bodice designed with a high neckline. The long fitted sleeves terminated at the wrists with matching lace cuffs.

Intricately styled lace motifs enhanced the hem of the semi-straight skirt and chapel train. She wore a mantilla style veil of illusion bordered with wide peach dangle lace and she held a bouquet of white roses interspersed with baby's breath.

Miss Susan Miller, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a full length wine color Qiana dress featuring a square collar and flowing elbow length sleeves.

Her bouquet was an arrangement of pink and red Sweetheart roses.

The flower girl, Heather Higgins, was dressed in a pink frock designed with short sleeves and a long white eyelet pinafore. She carried a basket of red rose petals.

Richie Wilson, a cousin of the bride, served as ringbearer.

Ralph Burnett attended the groom as best man and Michael Miller, a brother of the bride, seated the guests.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at the Cheshire Inn in Clayton, Mo. The groom hosted a rehearsal dinner at Charlie's Restaurant.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Miller, selected a formal length peach Qiana gown created with a stand-up collar and gathered skirt. She wore a corsage of peach Sweetheart roses.

A 1973 graduate of Granite City High School, the former Miss Miller also graduated in 1974 from Hickey's Business School, St. Louis. She is employed as a secretary at the courthouse in Edwardsville.

The groom is a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School, and is self employed.

They are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev.

Christmas program at Venice school

Approximately 400 people attended the Title VII Project MICRO Christmas program entitled "Whatever Happened To An Old Fashioned Christmas?" held at Venice Grade School according to Miss Barbara Bailey and A.J. DeLay co-chairmen.

Committee members were Mrs. Sondra Pumphrey, Mrs. Teresa Wallace, Miss Linda Marcus, Miss Brenda Ervin and Miss Ruth Welch.

Musical selections were rendered by the Venice School Band under the direction of Donald Mancell.

Students from the grade and high schools participated in the program which depicted scenes from the Christmas Celebrations of the Future, the Past, and the Present.

Anna Mae Godfrey, Pat Whitten and Mr. Townsend were the winners of the attendance prizes.

MRS. CHARLES PAPP RECUPERATING AT HOME
Mrs. Charles Papp Jr., 2300 Hodges Ave., returned home last week from Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, where she had undergone major surgery.

Wilson pupils present play

A program entitled "Holiday for Santa" was presented by the sixth grade classes of Mrs. Carla Burns, Mrs. Norma Schroeder and Barry Schroeder at the Wilson School PTA meeting held last week.

Mrs. Mary Kay Rogers accompanied the children on the piano as they sang various Christmas selections.

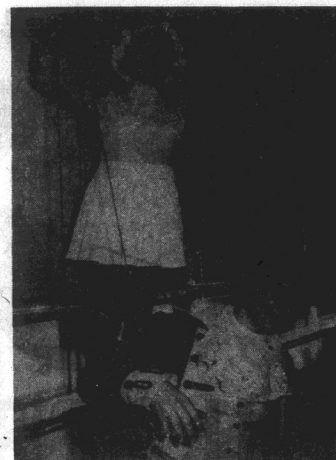

The meeting was opened with the presentation of the colors and pledge of allegiance led by Cub Pack 122 members. John Dawson, assistant cubmaster, led the scouts Donald Gilbert, Mike Geake, Duane Dawson, Frankie Woods, Johnny Adler, Mike Pinnon and Danny Linsenman, in the ceremony.

Mrs. Harriet Evans read the PTA prayer and PTA President Mrs. Dorothy Baker presided.

Mrs. Baker led discussions on invited Mayor Paul Schuler, Alderman Gerald Parmley and Earl Baker to attend the Jan. 18 meeting to discuss the widening of Maryville Road and safety of the school children who must cross the road, while under construction.

Babysitters will be provided for the young children who attend the meetings beginning in January, Mrs. Baker announced.

Refreshments were served after the program and the executive board session is set for Jan. 4 at 7 p.m. at the school, the president added.

GOP eyes national chairmanship Jan. 14

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Rep. Philip M. Crane, who led Ronald Reagan's Presidential campaign in Illinois, has signed up 59 of the 143 House Republicans in a demand for a conservative as Republican national chairman.

Crane told a news conference he would stay in the party no matter who becomes chairman at the Republican national committee meeting here Jan. 14.

The Illinois conservative said his party loyalty is in sharp contrast to "liberal Republicans who have threatened to leave the party if a conservative is elected."

Crane released a list of 58 other House Republicans who joined him in urging the national committee to select a chairman who will rejuvenate the party through a reaffirmation of faith in "personal freedom rather than in collectivist regimentation."

"Our party," their statement said, "needs a chairman who represents the traditional principles articulated in the 1976 party platform adopted in Kansas City."

"Someone whose leadership will symbolize the Republican virtues of limited government, lower taxes, creative enterprise and individual liberty."

Crane said he rejects "doomsayers" who fear the party is dead and call for a "me-too Republican party to emulate the Democrats."

It would be fatal to assume we can beat the Democrats by doing what they are doing. The Democrats would be the beneficiaries."

Although he disclosed no choice, Crane said a "technician" would be acceptable as chairman as long as he supports Republican principles.

The party's regulation that the chairmanship is a "full-time job" rules out several sound potential candidates, Crane said, naming Reagan, Texas John Connally and Treasury Secretary William Simon.

They would have to make economic sacrifices to serve, he said, adding that the rule "narrows the field considerably."

Crane thought that the "talented and able" Annie Armstrong, ambassador to England, would be acceptable to the committee. Even as Crane spoke, President Gerald Ford told Congressional Republicans that she had

St. and then returned suddenly into the right lane, colliding with Fields' auto which then left the roadway and struck a tree. Krauskopf's auto then allegedly crossed into the oncoming lane and collided head-on with the car of John Thomason.

"definitely" declined the job. Mr. Ford said there now appears to be a field of six prospects to succeed outgoing Mary Louise Smith as party chairman.

House Minority Whip Robert H. Michel of Peoria, after the meeting with the President, said his list of potential candidates includes James Baker, who managed the President's campaign; Ohio GOP Chairman Ken McGough; Indiana GOP Chairman Thomas Milligan; Utah Republican Chairman Richard Richards, and Sen. Bill Brock of Tennessee, who was defeated for re-election.

Michel said that, whoever wins the party chairmanship, "Mr. Ford still should be considered the leader of our party, not just a titular head."

Crane, during his own news conference, addressed the Ford status in the Republican party's inaugural Crane said he will be "deferential and respectful" of Mr. Ford's opinions, "but on the other hand Ronald Reagan is a co-equal — at least."

In response to a question, Crane said Reagan is "leaving the door open" and "has to be considered a viable candidate in 1980."

Crane said, "Age does not rule him out" and Reagan is "young in outlook and physically vital."

Alarm over farmland investment fund plan

A plan by a Chicago bank and a nationwide investment firm to create an "investment fund" in agricultural land has drawn comments of alarm from Illinois Farm Bureau President Harold Steele.

The plan by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago and Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc., would create a pooled investment fund from which shares would be sold to corporate pension and profit-sharing programs and other investors.

The investments would be used to buy about $50 million worth of farmland in several states, including Illinois.

Land would be leased to farmers who would grow a variety of crops. Profits derived from lease payments, crop earnings and expected appreciation of the land values would be returned to the investors.

Continental is to serve as trustee and investment adviser for the fund, while Merrill Lynch is to act as the distributor — marketing the fund to investors.

Although bank spokesmen said the fund would enable many young men to engage in farming, who otherwise would not be able to raise funds on their own, Steele said that such a statement is "a smokescreen to the real issue," and that Illinois farmers are apt to take a dim view.

"Farmers are already aggressively competing for farmland, driving the value up as much as 25 per cent a year," Steele said.

"This corporate venture would create an outside influence that would likely drive land prices up at an even more rapid pace."

"It's clear that the investors will be trying to purchase land regardless of its price. That's bound to dramatically affect land values," Steele added.

He also expressed concern over property tax implications of the venture.

"Higher prices being paid for farmland means higher land values, higher assessed valuations and ultimately higher property taxes per acre for all Illinois farmers regardless of how long the farm has been in the family," Steele said.

"Other repercussions could occur too."

"The fund could be cashed-in in a few years, either to reward the investors or to retrieve funds from an unprofitable venture."

"At that time, the young farmer that the fund was helping could be left with no farm to support him and his family."

"In addition, if the investors suddenly decided to pull out — and a large amount of land were dumped back on the market — land prices could take a dramatic downward dip."

"This would be especially true if it occurred when farm incomes were depressed and farmers were unable to purchase the land being sold," Steele added.

He said he is bothered that — if such a sudden drop in land prices did occur because of "outside" influence — other farmers, by the mere coincidence of having decided to sell their land, could suffer serious financial losses.

Although plans for the investment fund are being finalized by the parties involved, establishment of the fund is still contingent on obtaining certain requested rulings from the Internal Revenue Service, Steele noted.

Funds approved for pool pavilion work

Replacement of the deck roof on top of the Wilson Park swimming pool pavilion is progressing, but a further $800 was added to the initial $4,150 cost to compensate for construction changes due to insulation build-up.

The extra charge was authorized at last week's meeting of the Granite City Board of Park Commissioners.

Approval also was granted to pay expenses of sending two park employees to a course on spraying grounds. Persons spraying public areas now are required to be licensed, it was explained.

Emergency patching was necessary last week to a portion of the Lincoln Place Community Center roof, the commissioners were told. The entire roof will have to be replaced next spring.

Board Attorney Randall Robertson was asked to supervise official changes on the park district's map to show inclusion of an annexed area in Precinct 3, prior to the April 19 park board election date.

Board President Henry Gabriel and Harold Brown, park superintendent, were asked to meet Jan. 3 with the Ministerial Association to discuss eliminating some Sunday morning activities sponsored by the park district.

Park district employees had their annual Christmas party Thursday at the Nameoki Recreation Center.

Registration for winter instruction

Student registration for winter classes at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be held Monday, Jan. 3, from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. in the University Center.

Registration will be operated on a first-come, first-served basis, according to C. B. Collier, assistant registrar. Winter classes will begin Tuesday, Jan. 4, at 7:30 a.m.

Students who need to make changes in their schedules will be able to do so beginning Jan. 5, Collier said.

Class changes may be made Jan. 5 and 6 from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m., Jan. 7 from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., and Jan. 10 and 11 from 8:30 a.m. until 7 p.m. Other key dates that returning students should remember are: Jan. 7, last day to pay fees; Jan. 11, final day to add a class; Jan. 26, last day to drop a class without receiving a grade and the last day to change a course from pass to credit status; and Jan. 31, the first day to pick up appointment cards for spring quarter registration.

Students who plan to attend the university next spring for the first time are to apply for admission now. Applications for admission are available in the Office of Admissions and Records located in the John S. Rendeman building.

Optimists hear Rev. Garrett

Using as his text the New Testament book of Matthew, Chapter 25, verses 34 through 40, the Rev. Harold Garrett, pastor of Suburban Baptist Church, 1300 St. Clair Ave., spoke to the Thursday noon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club in the YMCA. In a Christmas season talk, Rev. Garrett emphasized the importance of being concerned about others and that in the name of Christian love there is room for everyone.

Broad campaign to curb 'white collar' criminals

The FBI has stepped up its national drive to reduce "white collar" crime during 1976, with good results, according to Director Clarence M. Kelley.

He said Federal Bureau of Investigation white-collar crime investigations uncovered, for example, land frauds in Arizona, forged and stolen securities in Missouri, industrial espionage in Illinois and short-loadings of grain in Louisiana.

Each investigation involved millions of dollars in costs to the American consumer and the business community. More than 4,000 convictions resulted from FBI investigations, a record and an increase of 850 over 1975.

"We are getting good results, with fine cooperation from federal prosecutors, and we expect even better results in the future," Kelley said. The director reported that the FBI's investigative resources have been "substantially reoriented toward quality-type cases involving violations that could seriously hamper the economic health and integrity of American business."

He said the white-collar criminal, whose trademark is the covert criminal act, has increased in number within recent years.

The FBI anticipates greater investigative activity as a result of the recruitment of additional accountant manpower. Special agent-accountants in the FBI now number more than 800, including 165 hired since Jan. 1, 1976.

Kelley said, "An increasing proportion of our investigative time is being devoted to white-collar crime."

"Also, the FBI continues participation in the U. W. Department of Justice program to combat fraud in federal government housing projects."

"Task forces have concentrated their efforts in 28 major metropolitan areas and — since the inception of this program — over 800 individuals have been indicted. "Some of these people are still awaiting trial. However, more than 550 have been convicted."

The FBI and the Attorney General's White-Collar Crime Committee are considering using task forces to attack fraud in other federal programs, and the FBI has committed appropriate manpower, Kelley said.

For example, special squads already have been assembled in several geographic areas where many frauds were perpetrated against Veterans Administration educational programs. This fall, 16 people were indicted as a result of a concerted effort to uncover fraud in Medicare-Medicaid programs. This approach has contributed to an upward trend in convictions for the past three years in white-collar crime, the FBI director said.

Meanwhile, FBI agents are receiving more sophisticated training to better equip them to attack the white-collar criminal.

Kelley said a four-week advanced computer training program has been instituted at the FBI Academy in Quantico, Va.

This program is geared to familiarize the special agent-accountant with computer documentation and automated banking procedures. In the program, a banking environment is simulated in order to assist special agent-accountants investigating frauds perpetrated against the banking community.

The director indicated that the FBI is alerting manufacturers, distributors and retailers in the scope of the white-collar crime problem.

Goals of these efforts include increasing public awareness of white-collar crime. He also reported that legitimate business organizations have formed groups to assist the law enforcement community in curtailing white-collar criminal activities. Kelley reported that the white-collar criminal not only practices his deceit here in the United States but has perpetrated mail fraud schemes that have cost foreign investors and financiers millions of dollars.

In one FBI case, three Midwestern businessmen swindled millions of dollars from a Swiss financier and several United States banking institutions.

They did so through a scheme of fraudulent stock certificates, bank loans and securities thefts. In August 1976, these men received substantial prison sentences.

"I think the penetration of this group constituted a major breakthrough by the FBI in white-collar crime," Kelley commented. He said FBI agents in Chicago and Milwaukee were outstanding in their investigation of industrial espionage in which stolen secrets of a chemical company, valued in excess of $16 million, were recovered.

A former official of the company was convicted and evidence was developed that he had secreted numbered bank accounts in Switzerland and an Grand Cayman Island, Kelley added.

The FBI's New Orleans office has conducted a long and elaborate investigation of fraud and wide spread theft in connection with foreign grain shipments and the issuance of fraudulent certificates by U. S. Department of Agriculture grain inspectors. This investigation has resulted in the conviction of 73 persons and the levying of fines totaling nearly $1 million against individuals and corporations charged with bribery, fraud against the government, theft from interstate shipment and Anti-Racketeering-Hobbs Act violations.

FBI investigations of white-collar crimes during 1976 resulted in fines, savings and recoveries totaling $206 million, an increase of $11 million over the previous year.

Board approves township bills. Bills totaling $13,784 have been approved for payment by the Granite City Council, sealed as the town board of auditors. Bills included $6,711 from the town fund, $7,021 from general assistance and $162 from the federal revenue sharing account.

Town fund bills included $4,251 in salaries, $1,500 in auditor's expenses, and $990 in miscellaneous payments, services and supplies. Bills approved from general assistance included $1,655 for salaries, $65 for rent, $73 for fuel, $354 for prescription medications, $3,701 for food and $662 for services and supplies. Revenue sharing bills included $24 for telephone service and $28 to the city for gasoline for the senior citizens' bus.

More privacy, comfort for state institution residents

Gov. Daniel Walker said this week that a two-year, $12.1 million program to improve living conditions for mentally ill and developmentally disabled people at 16 state-operated institutions is virtually complete.

The program's primary goal is to afford the mentally ill and developmentally disabled greater privacy and to create more cheerful and comfortable living conditions, he added.

In all, 41 individual projects were undertaken, ranging from bathroom partitioning to installing air-conditioning to renovating an entire building.

(Lincoln Developmental Center). Walker estimated that the program is 95 per cent complete.

As a result of one facet of the program, more than 80 per cent of all patient living areas in state-operated institutions are now fully air-conditioned.

The projects have also included installation of new lighting, roofing and flooring; repainting and plastering; replacement of electrical and bathroom fixtures; and the addition of new recreational facilities.

Private bedrooms have been built to replace impersonal dormitory conditions which allowed no individual living space, the governor said.

Partitions have been installed to provide semi-private bedroom areas in buildings where fully-enclosed private rooms could not be built.

The state began the current program to upgrade living quarters in May 1974, after Walker had made unannounced visits and inspections at state hospitals.

The improvements have been made according to guidelines developed by a Humanization Task Force study for the Department of Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities.

The study, "Architectural Considerations for Humanization," was prepared by the Chicago Architectural firm of Berenstein, Kahn and Lozano, and received an award of excellence from the Society of American Registered Architects.

Gov. Walker said, "A state institution is no substitute for the warmth and cheerfulness of a person's own home. But neither should an institution deprive people who need care of their rights to privacy and comfort."

"To create a greater sense of warmth in state-operated institutions, I announced a $12 million improvement program two years ago. Today, that program is virtually complete."

"Private bedrooms have replaced impersonal dormitory conditions in some buildings. Air-conditioning at many facilities will make daily activities more comfortable during sweltering conditions in summer."

"Many drab buildings have been brightened by new lighting, painting and replastering."

"We have achieved our goal of providing greater privacy and comfort for the mentally ill and developmentally disabled to insure their dignity as individuals."

More than $3 million in improvement projects were undertaken at the Dixon Developmental Center. One project entailed complete renovation of two buildings, construction of private rooms and installation of air-conditioning and new toilet facilities that serve nearly 100 developmentally disabled residents.

In another building, partitions for private bedrooms have been provided, the rooms refurbished and new electrical and heating systems installed.

Modern, private toilet facilities have also been constructed in 18 other buildings at the Dixon Center. The grounds have been landscaped and three playgrounds built.

A new swimming pool for recreation and therapy will be completed early next year.

Projects at the Jacksonville Mental Health and Developmental Center include installation of air-conditioning and fire safety improvements in two buildings; and rehabilitation of four other buildings, including partitions for more private living quarters and fire safety improvements.

plastering and other interior improvements.

A new playground, a softball diamond and a covered pavilion have been constructed at the Bowen Developmental Center in Harrisburg.

The $73,000 project will provide additional recreational activities for 200 developmentally disabled children. Improvements at bathroom facilities have also been made at a cost of $20,000.

Two resident buildings at the Galesburg Mental Health Center have been improved, with partitions for semi-private living areas and other interior decorating.

New floors have been installed in eight buildings at Galesburg, and air-conditioning installed in the center's hospital section. The improvements cost a total of $440,000.

Installation of air-conditioning in one building and refurbishing of five other buildings has been completed at the Madison Mental Health Center. The improvements cost a total of $440,000.

Rehabilitation of another three resident buildings, including construction of private rooms, new lighting, heating and air conditioning will be completed next year at Manhattan. Total cost of these projects is $1.4 million.

Other projects include: —Rehabilitation of two buildings at the Alton Mental Health Center to provide privacy for 40 residents; $100,000.

—Air-conditioning of three buildings at the Anna Mental Health Center and replacement of ceiling tile at three buildings; $395,000.

—New playground and other recreational facilities at the Murray Developmental Center in Centralia; $180,000.

—Rehabilitation and redecorating at the Illinois State Psychiatric Institute in Chicago; $225,000.

—Rehabilitation of restrooms in four buildings at the Madden Mental Health Center in Hines; $100,000.

—Roof repair and redecorating at the Meyer Mental Health Center in Decatur; $100,000.

Installation of air-conditioning and rehabilitation of one building serving 100 non-ambulatory patients at the Fox Developmental Center in Dwight; $140,000.

—And draperies in 50 buildings to provide a more normal environment for 856 developmentally disabled children at the Ludeman Developmental Center in Park Forest; $13,000.

The $8.6 million Henry Horner Children's Center at the Chicago-Rand Mental Health Center was opened in 1974 as the statewide improvement program was getting under way.

All patients have now been transferred from the old Chicago-Rand buildings into modern facilities at the Horner center.

Several other projects, including remodeling of the medical-surgical building, also were completed as part of the state's on-going improvement program.

Children entertain at holiday program

In keeping with the Christmas season nearly 125 students of Louis Baer and Harris elementary schools and Madison Junior High School presented a Christmas program last week to the noon meeting of the Madison-Venice Rotary Club in the Madison Recreation Center.

The program was under the direction of Mrs. Valerie Stevens, vocal music director of the Madison School district.

Coleen Kosek of Louis Baer gave a welcome, followed by a piano solo by Ginger Booker.

Lonnie and Michael Smith, Gala Stone and Helen Reed sang "Silver Bells."

Kelly Walker did a solo dance followed with the song "Little Drummer Boy," by Mark

Rhoads, and a solo by Tyrone Manzy.

Dana Barnes, Donna and Winifred Stufflebean, of Madison Junior High, and Maria Hoffman, Patricia Levart and Angela Whitworth of Louis Baer, formed the Jingle Bells Rockettes and danced to "Jingle Bell Rock."

Among the songs by Harris school children were "O' Hannukah," "Jingle Bells" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Judy Rickovsky sang "Silent Night" and Christine Yeager did a ballet number.

Harris school children singing in the chorus were:

John Amish, Frank Barr, David Brake, Ken Campbell, Christopher Freeman, Christopher Harp, Carey Hughes, Donald Heley, George Juengel, Harold Morrison, Kevin Scott, Eddie Rae, Cynthia Cross, Yvonne Charter, Cheryl Foreshee, Michelle Kiseika, Theresa Medlock, Rachel Sanders, Barbara Wagner, Marjorie Warden and Sherrie Wells.

Edward Collier, Anthony Dollar, Donald Douglas, Anthony Godair, Willie Green, Wilson Howard, Joseph Kayich, Steven Taylor, Oliver Walker, Gerald Williams, Annette Catron, Melissa Dooley, Laura Hodge, Tara Hughes, Bertha Muir, Debra Newell, Cristy Stawar, Michelle Varady, Sheila Whitworth, Christine Yeager, Carol Young and Mort Thompson.

Anthony Leadlove, Gladys Bailey, Carmelita Timmons, Jeff Jackson, Vicki Bridges, Michael Midkiff, Steve Ferrell, Victoria Savage, Shuzel Beaman, Billy Hildrett, Paula Endicott, Mark Martinez, Patricia Land, Carl Royston, Leetta Poole, Duane Hicks, Tina Campbell, David Tart, Danny Pinkley and Edward Ware.

Following the program, W. F. "Mick" Strange, president of the club, thanked the children, teachers and parents for presenting the program. As the children left each was given a Santa Claus tree ornament.

Mrs. Elmore honored by GC council

A resolution honoring Mrs. Barbara Elmore, 3000 Cayuga St., for her designation by the Illinois Office of Education as "Outstanding Parent of Illinois" was approved by the Granite City Council last week.

The action designated that "The mayor and the aldermen go on record honoring Mrs. Elmore" for the distinction of being one of only five persons to receive the honor throughout the state.

The motion instructed City Clerk Robert Stevens to write a letter to Mrs. Elmore citing the honor voted by the council. Mrs. Elmore is vice-president of the Washington School PTA. She and her husband, Richard, have a daughter Kristi in Washington School and three other children, Paul, Ricky and Kathy in other schools.

Parents and students enjoy holiday program

A holiday mood was set for the children and parents of Blair School in Madison as the school presented a Christmas program in which all students participated.

Presentations included Christmas songs such as "Toyland," "Jingle Bells," "Drummer Boy," "All I Want for Christmas," "Rudolph," "Deck the Halls" and other favorites. Also on the program were fingerplays by the kindergarten classes, and popular poems such as "What Christmas Is," "The Little Fir Tree."

Approximately 240 adults attended. As an added treat to the children, Charles McCaskill, principal, arranged to have the entire program video taped by the Southern Illinois University Edwardsville Teacher Corps, and the entire school viewed the videotape TV. Blair school also had Santa Christmas stockings for each child given out the last day of school. These stockings were provided by the Mother's Club and were filled with Christmas candy and treats.

BABY CAMEL has joined a donkey, six sheep, two calves and three llamas at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows during the current holiday season.

Animals and light displays at shrine

Thousands who have gone to the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows during the Christmas season for the past seven years report being enchanted by the Way of Lights display. Many additions and changes have occurred since its inception in 1969 in the form of electro-art sculptures and lighted tableaux.

Of particular interest to children this year is a corral of live animals. Joining Jenny, the donkey, and six sheep, are two small calves, three llamas and a baby camel. The location is 9500 W. Illinois Route 15, Belleville area.

The baby camel arrived from Indianapolis this month and is the object of a "Name the baby camel contest" for children up to the age of 14.

The children turn in their contest blank when they come to see the animated film, "When the Littlest Camel Kneled," shown each evening from 6 to 9 at the shrine's visitor center. Each child attending the shows will receive a Christmas poster as a remembrance of the visit. Twelve new electro-art sculptures of children surrounding a glittering fountain of lights accentuate the 1976-77 theme of "Peace for the Children," which is developed in detail through an original slide program. This is also presented nightly at the visitor center.

The Way of Lights, sponsored by the Missionary Oblates and the Layman's Association at the Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, is available free of charge every evening, 5 to 10 o'clock until Sunday, Jan. 9.

WOMAN IS INJURED

Mrs. Achamma Chacko, 29, of 2820 North bridge, was injured in an auto accident last week and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for injuries to her left side, upper left arm and her head. X-rays were taken and she was admitted.

New institutions in Illinois eligible for school lunches

School lunch is no longer just for schools.

Legislation passed by Congress has expanded U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) child feeding activities to include many different kinds of institutions — including child care centers, settlement houses, hospitals and other facilities which care for children.

Robert E. Ohlzen, director, School Food Services Section, Illinois State Office of Education, reports that his agency is making an all-out effort to inform these institutions and centers of their possible eligibility for USDA child nutrition programs.

Such institutions include — but are not limited to — homes for the mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed, and unmarried mothers and their infants.

Orphanages, temporary shelters for abused or runaway children, long-term care hospitals and juvenile detention centers may be eligible.

Private institutions also may qualify if they are non-profit and licensed by the state or a local level of government to provide child care services. Under these programs, the federal government bears part of the expense for meals for children. This is done through financial assistance and/or USDA donated foods.

In return, schools or institutions agree to follow federal requirements, which include providing meals that meet USDA standards and serving free or reduced price meals to children who cannot afford the price of the meal.

In the 1976 fiscal year, 1,079,000 Illinois children participated in the national school lunch program and about 79,000 in the school breakfast program.

Federal expenditures for child nutrition programs in Illinois were in the neighborhood of $100 million in fiscal 1976.

Ohlzen says that officials of institutions which think they might be eligible for the program may write him at 100 N. First St., Springfield 62777 for more information.

Family counseling center is moving

The Family Counseling Center of Southwestern Illinois has announced its new office location at Chateau Villa, 5109 N. St. (Route 150), Belleville 62211.

The center is one mile south of the St. Clair mall on Route 150. The new telephone number is 236-8656. The center will be open for service at the new location on Jan. 3.

The former site was 36 Loisel Village, East St. Louis.

The Family Counseling Center provides individual, group and family counseling geared toward helping those who may be experiencing problems that are causing internal stress and dysfunction.

The problems may include such stressful situations as (1) marital conflict and divorce, (2) parent-child or school conflicts or (3) poor family communications and behavior patterns.

Kimack is retiring

The Venice Town Board last week received a letter from Frank Kimack resigning as highway commissioner.

Kimack has been highway commissioner for the township for eight terms and told the board he wants to retire.

Christ Pashoff, Venice township supervisor, has called a special meeting Wednesday in which the auditors will accept the resignation and appoint Joe Roberts of Eagle Park Acres as highway commissioner.

At last week's meeting, the auditors reviewed plans to revise furnishing eye glasses to anyone in the township who needs them. Monies for the project, according to Pashoff, are available through federal programs.

Auditor Ben Honorable of Venice will be named as a liaison officer for minority groups in relation to federal grants and other projects with which the township may help.

County zoning department collects $82,699 in fees

The Madison County Building and Zoning Department collected $82,699 in fees during the fiscal year which ended Nov. 30, a report from Paul T. Hawkins, building official, showed this week.

Receipts of the office included $63,484 in fees for building permits and $19,885 for zoning hearings and permits.

Building permits during the fiscal year were for projects totaling $23,530 in value, including 537 new homes, 139 additions, 68 for mobile home, 51 for commercial and industrial projects, four for new churches or signs, five for modular homes, 188 for accessory buildings, 38 for signs, 10 for septic systems, 44 to alter or repair structures, and seven for miscellaneous projects.

The permits included 48 for Chouteau Township, 131 for Nantux Township, and nine for Venice Township.

Of receipts for zoning requests, $3,842 was for legal notices, $543 was for zoning maps and books, $5,450 was for special use permits for mobile or modular homes, $550 was for zoning variances and $2,400 was for special use permits.

Another $974 was for rezoning to a residential classification, $150 for rezoning to agricultural, $1,375 for rezoning to business, and $880 for rezoning to a manufacturing classification.

There were 215 public hearings on zoning requests held during the fiscal year, the report shows.

Felony charged

Granite City police followed a van from Wayne and St. Clair Avenue to Anchorage Avenue and Edwards Street before stopping it on a routine investigation on Thursday and alleged finding about 90 grams of marijuana inside.

The driver, Chris E. LaPezze, 18, of 2612 Delmar Ave., has been charged with a felony count of unlawful possession of cannabis. Police reported finding a plastic bag of marijuana in the rear of the van, two bags on top of the engine compartment, a pipe with marijuana in it under the right front seat, some partially burned marijuana cigarettes in a plastic case between the front seats, and a full marijuana cigarette and some partially burned cigarettes in the van's ash tray.

Retirement workshop

A workshop for employers on "Your Company's Role in Retirement Planning" is scheduled Thursday, Feb. 17, at the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce headquarters, 20 N. Wacker Drive, Chicago.

The all-day meeting is being sponsored by the State Chamber in cooperation with the American Association of Retired Persons.

Advice on helping employees plan for and manage their retirement will be offered by these speakers: James Gordon Gilkey Jr., vice president, personnel, Carson Pirie Scott & Co., Chicago; Carl Hanzelbauer, volunteer consultant, Action for Independent Maturity (AIM) and retired community relations manager, Johnson & Johnson, Chicago; John J. McBride, AIM regional coordinator, Chicago; John Osswald, partner, Howington, Elworth & Osswald, Chicago; and Leonard Day, State Chamber labor relations manager.

INJURES SHOULDER

Norman Lucas, 34, of 2704 Idaho St., suffered a dislocated shoulder in an auto accident last week and was released after treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Minimum pay to increase in state

As a result of legislation signed in August, the state minimum wage will be increased effective Jan. 1, 1977. The new wages will be: $2.30 per hour for persons 18 years of age and older, and $1.96 for persons under 18.

Gov. Danon Walker last week officially designated Peoria as the new home base for the state's fourth Emergency Medical Services helicopter.

The specially-equipped turbine helicopter will be used to transport the critically ill or accident victims to hospitals.

When the helicopter is not being used to transport patients, it is used by the Department of Transportation's engineers to help solve highway and design problems. It also will assist law enforcement officials in search and surveillance work.

The Mediation and Conciliation Service of the Illinois Department of Labor has announced an expanded service for labor and management in cases of collective bargaining disputes, according to Director Donald A. Johnson.

Through an expansion of professional staff, the service now has an increased capacity to provide assistance as a third party when, for whatever reason, differences are not satisfactorily resolved.

Any requests for the participation of the Illinois Department of Labor are to be addressed to Walter W. Cary, Chief Labor Conciliator, Conciliation and Mediation Division, Illinois Department of Labor, at 910 S. Michigan, 18th Floor, Chicago 60605, or at Room 705, State Office Building, Springfield 62706.

The Illinois Office of Education will conduct six public hearings next month on a draft revision of the Illinois Program for Evaluation, Supervision and Recognition of Schools.

The document sets forth standards for school district organization, governance and operation.

It is being revised to incorporate recent changes in school law and to include new policies and regulations adopted by the State Board of Education in the past two years.

The hearings will give educators and other interested individuals or organizations an opportunity to add their comments or suggestions.

Below are the dates, locations and contact phone numbers for the hearings:

Jan. 6, Peoria County Courthouse, Peoria, 309-676-4611.

Jan. 11, Bismark Hotel, Chicago, 312-443-7905.

Jan. 20, Ramada Inn, Morrison, 815-772-7201.

Jan. 24, East High School, Carbondale, 618-242-1076.

Jan. 25, DuPage County Building, Wheaton, 312-982-7150.

Jan. 27, Illinois Office of Education, Springfield, 217-782-5517.

Mrs. Ella Vizer, 69, dies

Mrs. Ella L. Vizer, 69, of 834 Niedringhaus Ave., a lifelong resident of Granite City, died Thursday afternoon at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

She had been ill for about one month and was hospitalized for two days.

Born and reared in Granite City, Mrs. Vizer formerly was employed at the Nesco Company.

She was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church and St. Ann's Altar Society for many years.

Surviving are her husband, Joseph Vizer; two sons, Joseph Vizer Jr. of Granite City and Ernest Vizer of San Diego, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. Allen (Joyce) Jenness of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Ann Kostoff and Mrs. George (Isabel) Spiro, both of Granite City; and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held today at St. Joseph's. Details are given in the obituary column.

Smith promoted to university position

Sam L. Smith, acting director of University News Service (UNS) at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been named director of the unit through an administrative memorandum issued by Acting President Ralph W. Buffler.

Smith had served as acting director since March 1975, having joined the university staff in February 1973 as assistant director of UNS.

A past president of the Southern Illinois Editorial Association, Smith was editor and manager of the Metropolis News and Daily Planet before coming to SIUE.

The veteran newspaper man also served as a reporter for the Harrisburg (Ill.) Daily Register, editor of the Sullivan (Ind.) Daily Times, editor of the Huntington (Ind.) Independent and Midwest regional representative for Dear Publications, Radio and Television, Inc.

While living in Metropolis, Smith was one of the organizers and promoters of a "Superman" project. The project, promoting Metropolis as the cartoon character's hometown, received national coverage.

In 1968, Smith was given the Metropolis Kiwanis Club's businessman-of-the-year award. To further show appreciation for his dedication to the town, the Metropolis Chamber of Commerce presented him with the Community Leader of the Year Award in 1970.

Smith received the SIU at Carbondale School of Journalism master editor award in 1972. The year before that, he was given the Golden Dose Editorial Award by the International Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors.

Smith received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Illinois School of Journalism in 1948.

He and his wife, Louise, reside at 156 Barnett Drive, Edwardsville. They are the parents of five children.

Area's Bicentennial bus is returning to regular service

The Bi-State Agency's colorful Bicentennial bus, which has treated thousands of area residents to free rides since May, will return to regular service beginning Saturday, Jan. 1.

The bus, painted with reproductions of colonial flags used by American troops during the Revolutionary War, has operated randomly on all of the agency's 141 regular lines since it was introduced May 14, giving free rides to all who have boarded it.

Passenger response to the Bicentennial bus has been positive, as reflected in letters and phone calls received from riders who were surprised to discover the bus on their favorite route.

Bi-State plans to reinstitute regular fares aboard the vehicle but to retain its unique interior and exterior decorations and to again vary its areas of operation in Missouri and Illinois.

Future plans call for possible use of the bus as part of Bi-State's public information program, fitting it with displays depicting the past, present and future of St. Louis-area mass transportation for exhibit at schools and at neighborhood celebrations and other special events.

Classes in home health care aid, homemaking

The two homemaker-home health care aid programs offered at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville during the fall quarter proved so successful that the programs will be offered during the winter quarter beginning Jan. 11.

Interviews for applicants for the programs will be conducted Jan. 5 from 10 a.m. until noon at the Senior Citizens Employment Office in Edwardsville and at 2 p.m. in Alton at the Senior Citizens Center. The office in Edwardsville is upstairs in the Sears Building and the one in Alton at 3812 McArthur Drive.

Interviews also will be held Jan. 6 in Room 1004 at the SIUE East St. Louis Center, 411 E. Broadway.

A general explanation of the programs will be given to applicants at the time of their interviews.

Rowena Lutz, home economist in special programs at the university, says there are no age restrictions. "Women over 45 years of age are encouraged to participate in the programs," she adds.

The programs are sponsored by Family Services and Visiting Nurses, the Senior Citizens Employment Program, and Special Programs at SIUE.

The duties of a homemaker-home health care aid include: caring for children and handicapped, ill or elderly persons, planning and preparing nutritious meals, marketing and light housekeeping. The duties also include implementing the instructions of a physician or nurse whenever necessary.

Women who have reared their own families or have helped their aged parents or other relatives in time of illness or stress often make the best homemaker-home health care aides, Mrs. Lutz said.

People who are interested in participating may write or telephone Mrs. Lutz at 692-2420, Richard Gerhardt at 696-5710, Bill Gathright at 271-3000 or Mary England at 465-3839.

YULETIDE BASKETS for shut-in residents and elderly persons are packed by volunteers at the Salvation Army Center, 3007 E. 23rd St., Tuesday. More than 30 baskets are being delivered today. Close to 900 families requesting Christmas aid received vouchers this week to purchase groceries at designated supermarkets. In foreground is Mrs. Darlene Robinson. Mrs. Lia Griffin, left, and Mrs. Nina Hull are the other volunteer packers. The "Tree of Lights" appeal to pay for the holiday programs is still far short of its $25,000 goal. Checks may be mailed to: The Salvation Army, P.O. Box 338, Granite City, Ill. 62040. Vickers to aid state desegregation effort

Robert N. Vickers, superintendent of Venice Schools, will serve on a state-wide Equal Education Opportunities consortium to assist school districts having desegregation problems. Permission to serve on the state EEO appointed body was granted the administrator at last week's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

Vickers said the consortium of educators, students and citizens has been formed to provide help, when requested, to Illinois school districts unable to find solutions to desegregation problems. Appointees to the EEO consortium will visit districts needing help or the district administrators will be invited to study current policies and methods used in the Venice schools, Vickers explained. Due to a conflict with other demands, Vickers said he will be unable to attend the EEO-sponsored orientation meeting in Chicago, set for Jan. 5. In other business, board members agreed to install a used 125,000 BTU gas furnace in the bus garage at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, to permit use of the building for an auto mechanics course. A furnace is available for only $75, the members were advised. Installation will be accomplished by VLTG personnel. The board will advertise for bids to complete electrical work at Venice Grade School under the Life-Safety Code, and approval was given to replace a motor in the van used to transport special education students. A rebuilt motor costing $450, will be acquired, with installation not to exceed $350.

Mrs. Minerva Coffman dies

Mrs. Minerva E. Coffman, 71, of 4037 Warnock Ave., was pronounced dead at home at 4:30 p.m. Saturday of an apparent heart attack. She had been ill for the past 10 years. She was born in Washington County, Mo., and lived in the Quad-City area 51 years. Mrs. Coffman was a member of the Second Baptist Church of Granite City. Survivors include her husband, Elby Coffman; a son, Charles Coffman of Granite City; two daughters, Mrs. Gene (Mildred) Kent of Lake Delton, Wis., and Mrs. Mike (Patricia) Soltenberger of Quincy, and four grandchildren. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

STATION WAGON STOLEN
Joseph C. Hobbs of Millstadt, Ill., reported his brown Pinto station wagon was stolen at 4:30 p.m. Thursday while parked in the lot near the K-Mart store on Namecki Road. Inside the vehicle were a silver-colored box containing assorted mechanic tools valued at $80, plus a 35mm camera, boots and various clothing items.

19-year SIUE span recalled as challenging and creative

When Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville moved into the new classroom buildings on the campus, it triggered the memories of faculty and staff members who have been with the university since 1957. That is the year some say SIUE came into being.

Some persons place the beginning of the educational institution in 1965, when the campus at Edwardsville was first occupied. Still other people contend that the year was 1949.

"Forty-nine" was the year that SIU at Carbondale established a residence center in Belleville, offering extension courses taught by faculty commuting all the way from SIUC.

In any way, they are all correct. When can one say a dream begins—during its planning stage, during its formative years, or when the new buildings are finally occupied, staff members ask.

No matter how one looks at it, 1957 was an "exciting year" for those involved in the development of the university. That year, two residence centers were established—one at Alton and the other at East St. Louis. It was from these two centers that the first SIUE degree candidates were graduated in June, 1958.

David Bear, Howard Davis, John Schnabel and Norman Showers were among the first faculty members hired to teach at the university, which ultimately would be located at the present 2,600-acre site.

In the many of the early employees of the fledgling university, they had been "sold" on a dream: a dream that one day a new campus would rise on the Mississippi River bluffs to provide increased educational opportunities for the residents. Schnabel, professor of secondary education at SIUE, recalls, "It was an exciting, dynamic and challenging situation, bringing higher education within reach of every member of the community."

Closing of Shurtleff College, 130-year-old college in Alton, had allowed SIUE to offer a limited program there during the summer of 1957. But it was not until the fall quarter that a full program got under way.

Classes did not begin at the East St. Louis center until the fall quarter that year. Its facilities were scattered. Administrative offices were located on the second floor of the Rock Junior High School building at 10th and Ohio Streets.

Creation comforts were scarce at both locations. University officers had estimated that the two centers would open their doors to 800 students that fall. They were surprised. "More than double that amount showed up," according to Davis, coordinator of the Deans College.

The two centers registered over 1,600 students. More than half of the students attended classes at Alton, with nearly 800 students attending the East St. Louis Residence Center.

The educators were unprepared to handle such a large load of students. "While the students were registering, we were still running off schedule changes and adding more course offerings," Schnabel said.

Bear, chairman of the elementary education department, admitted it took a bit of unraveling later to get all the records straight. Some of the people working at registration had little or no background in admissions.

And many of them, hired strictly for the new school, were not acquainted with catalog descriptions that had originated in Carbondale.

Painted with war-surplus silver paint, the room echoed. "I would spend the first hour lecturing and the second hour listening to my echo," Showers jokes.

The glare of the shiny wall also bothered the eyes of the professor and his students. The school was aptly labeled a commuter campus. The instructors were doing more commuting than their students.

Most of the teachers conducted classes at both campuses. And since the school was still strongly tied to the Carbondale campus, it was between all three places were heavily traveled.

In some instances, faculty members and staff spent as much time on the road as they did in their classrooms," Bear said. Sometimes, committee work was handled along the route, with restaurants at the halfway point utilized as a meeting place.

During the 19 years that SIUE has turned out students, most of them have majored either in business or in education. Education accounted for the bulk of the degree candidates during the early years.

"Twenty years ago there was a great shortage of teachers. There was a need for more teachers and more education for those already in service," Bear said.

He attributed the shortage to the big turnover in the teaching profession and the low salaries offered the teachers.

Now that the demand for teachers has been met, the SIUE School of Education is concentrating on providing in-service training for those already in the field. There is also a great demand today for teachers in the area of special education.

During the past few years, SIUE has graduated more students in the discipline of education vividly remembers the first graduation. He escorted the seven candidates to Carbondale for the ceremonies.

The first graduating class included: Gail Ruenger, Richard Elzy, Nancy Rae Henry, David Howell, Bernice Ragdale, James Roak and Billy Joe Tite.

Five of the students were business majors. Another student majored in business education, and the other was a student of history.

Students who had only a year to complete the requirements for graduation were given the option of receiving their degrees from Shurtleff or SIUE Showers said.

He also remembers the first commencement exercises held at the SIUE site. Services were conducted in the middle of a corn field located just off Illinois Route 157.

"They cut the corn down for commencement," Showers said. A swath of cornstalks was cleared across the field for seating, and another swath was removed for parking.

The candidates who marched down the uneven corn rows to collect their hard-earned degrees were anything but "corny." Many were first-generation college students, sometimes holding fulltime jobs while getting their education between work shifts.

If the students had difficult times, so did their instructors. Showers remembers lecturing in a classroom where the sound of his voice bounced off the walls.

"SIUE must be willing to make whatever changes are necessary to meet the needs these societal changes will bring about in the area," Davis believes.

"We are not destined to be a Harvard of the Midwest. But I think we have a mission to serve the educational needs of the people of this area—whatever they might be," Davis concluded.

"For the person who is flexible in nature and adaptable to change, work at this university will continue to be challenging and interesting," Bear added.

business and business administration. Education follows closely behind.

With society in a constant state of change, the educators are not sure where the greatest needs will be in the future.

"SIUE must be willing to make whatever changes are necessary to meet the needs these societal changes will bring about in the area," Davis believes.

"We are not destined to be a Harvard of the Midwest. But I think we have a mission to serve the educational needs of the people of this area—whatever they might be," Davis concluded.

deeply they are involved in policy matters.

"Given that blacks are now gaining positions that allow them to exert considerable influence on governmental units in terms of policy, program development and implementation, it is important to ascertain whether such representation will bring forth a more responsive concern for the needs of black people," Bishop said.

The year-long study will include interviews with at least 400 black and white administrators in three large cities.

Since a considerable number of variables may affect perceptions and behavior as they relate to an administrative context, the study will be conducted in several cities located in different geographical areas, Bishop said.

The socio-temporal context for the study will be the metropolitan areas of East St. Louis, Pittsburgh and St. Louis. According to the researcher, the cities were chosen for several reasons.

As sites for the testing of existing hypotheses, the regions allow for considerable variability. Each of the chosen cities shows a marked difference in the duration and extent of public administration functions performed by blacks, he noted.

All governmental, quasi-governmental and major public service organizations in the regions will be contacted, and those black and white persons serving in administrative capacities will be identified and questioned.

"For example, little is known about the institutional experience they have once they get into government. Little is known about how quickly they move from level to level, how much of their work is day-to-day rather than line, how many assignments are limited to personnel rather than including financial management, or how

Study of public administrators in three areas

Clyde Bishop, research associate for the Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services (CURES) at SIUE, has been awarded a Ford Foundation grant to study black public administrators.

John Rodman, director of the Office of Research and Projects at the university, said the grant will enable the researcher to undertake a study of the perceptions, functions and career patterns of blacks in public administrative positions.

"The past few years have witnessed an increased interest in the role and function of black public officials," Bishop said. Many also have entered public service careers, he added.

"Given the emphasis on affirmative action at the federal, state and local levels of government, prospects for increased participation in public service appear to be favorable. The irony of this situation, however, is that little is known about the perceptions, functions and career patterns of such administrators in public life.

"For example, little is known about the institutional experience they have once they get into government. Little is known about how quickly they move from level to level, how much of their work is day-to-day rather than line, how many assignments are limited to personnel rather than including financial management, or how

First birthday of Mary Kay Mitchell

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Mitchell entertained guests at a party last week in honor of the first birthday of their daughter, Mary Kay Mitchell.

A cake decorated with Sesame Street cookie monster centered the table for the evening dinner.

Those attending included the honoree's sister Ann Marie Mitchell, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Mitchell of Erie, Tenn., Mrs. Mary Tolka, grandmother and other relatives, Joe Tolka, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Range and children Janice and Jon Robinson, Christie and Fred Range, of Cahokia.

Party for Concordia Seniors

The Concordia Seniors Club held its annual Christmas party last week at Concordia Lutheran Church, with 36 members attending.

A catered dinner was served at noon. The afternoon was spent at games and enjoying other entertainment.

Dwight Jackson, president, welcomed the group and offered the opening prayer. Henry "Babe" Amelung was a special guest at the party.

Mrs. Lana Aufderheide served as master-of-ceremonies and presented "crowns" and gifts to Mrs. Helen Jackson and Ted Aufderheide, who were selected "king" and "queen" of the pinchile players in 1976.

Poems were read by Mrs. Alma Halbert and Mrs. Ellen Waggoner, and a Christmas reading was given by Mrs. Aufderheide.

Gifts were exchanged between members and prizes were awarded following the pinchile games.

Each person attending was presented a tray filled with small gifts, provided by local business firms, including Aid Association for Lutherans, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, First Granite City National Bank, Buente Shoen, Tri-City Grocery, Mercer Mortuary, Granite City Rexall Drugs and Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary.

Jackson announced the club will hold its next get-together on Jan. 25.

Philathea Class meets at church

"Facts About the Bible," "Legend of the Lamb" and "The Way You Feel Inside" were the topics of readings given by Miss Ella Ray Smith at a meeting of the Philathea Class of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church.

The group met in the youth center at the church for a noon pot luck dinner with 17 members and two guests, the Rev. and Mrs. Roy Baugh, present.

Rev. Baugh gave the devotion and the remainder of the meeting was spent with each one giving short talk on a memorable Christmas they experienced.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Marvel Clover and Mrs. Lucy Weaver.

DAV Auxiliary yule party

Mrs. June Scherger and Mrs. Ruth Nimes hosted a seasonal party for members of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, held last week, in the DAV Hall.

Gifts were exchanged and games were played with each one receiving a prize.

Those present were Barbara Midos, Pat Mackie, Bertie Kichler, Lena Kalips, Alta Carpenter, Wilma Dorich, Louise Schleiff, Lorraine Groves and daughter Card.

An election of officers will be conducted at the Jan. 4 meeting, it was announced.

Kimberly Rapp installed queen of Jobs Daughters

Festive holiday decorations in the chapter rooms of the Masonic Temple provided the setting for the installation and reception of officers and choir members of Bethel 43, Order of Job's Daughters, last week.

Elected officers included Kimberly Rae Rapp, honored queen; Robin McBee, senior princess; Michelle Root, junior princess; Kay Gantti, guide and Tracy Dimock, marshal.

The appointed officers installed were Charla Rainwater, Chaplain; Carolyn Ozanich, treasurer; Eddie Schillinger, recorder; Sherri Clemenson, musician; Mary Lou Metcalf, librarian; Gwen Simpson, Terri Robinson, Jill Donley, LeAnn Baker, and Gena Fox, messengers; Laura Gantti, senior custodian; Kendra Rapp, junior custodian; Jonell Camp, inner guard and Chris Lewis, outer guard. Sue Huebner, flag bearer.

Choir members are Traci Basden, Sheri McGee, Elaine Ozanich, Vicki Meador, Lori McDaniel, Becky Cooper, Tracy Kopp, Nancy Niciecki, Bev Tester and Melissa Travis.

Installing officers were past honored queens, Misses Pat Brakaw, Kathleen Lane, Lisa Smith, Becky Graham, Leslie Houser, Kristie Christich, Lori Houser, Mrs. Margaret Kalmayer and Majority member Mrs. Bonnie Epstein.

Guests of honor included Mrs. Ida Katherine Schenck, past honored queen and Missouri past supreme guardian and Mrs. Elfreda P. Barr, past grand matron of Illinois.

All the officers formed the sign of the cross as Mrs. June Branding sang "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. June Barton at the piano.

Members of the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay formed an escort as the newly elected queen preceded to her office station where her brother, Kenneth Rapp presented her with a Bible topped with a daisy corsage.

Mrs. Marilyn McBee, president of the Mothers Club presented Miss Rapp with her gavel as the DeMolays stood in a triangle formation for the nine o'clock interpellation.

The queen also was presented with her mascot for the year, a stuffed mountain goat, by her sister Kendra Rapp.

Gena Ross, chairman of the board of Grand Examiners of the Grand Lodge of Illinois, gave the Ode to the American flag.

Anita Busch attended the guest book and Betty Slate and LeAnn Galbraith distributed the programs.

The Rev. David B. Maxton, minister of the First United Presbyterian Church, delivered the benediction.

Executive council members included Mrs. Rebecca Slate, Bethel Goddess; Mrs. Madeline Pope, guardian secretary and Ralph Baker, guardian treasurer. Associate council members are Mrs. Helen Love, custodian of paraphernalia; Mrs. Sandy Simpson, director of epochs; Mrs. Charlotte Root, promoter of sociability; and Mrs. Ruth Smith, promoter of finance.

Each installing officer and guest was presented with a Christmas corsage in keeping with the decorative holiday tree design on the chair backs in the chapter room.

The theme was continued in the dining room with bouquets of seasonal flowers centering the tables combined with candles and a tree trimmed

Earnings gap between men, women is wider

The gap between the earnings of women and men has nearly doubled since 1955, according to the Women's Bureau, Employment Standards Administration, U.S. Department of Labor.

In constant dollars, taking inflation into account, the gap increased from $1,911 in 1955 to $2,423 in 1974, according to the new report.

"The Earnings Gap Between Women and Men" reports that among year-round, full-time workers, men's earnings exceeded women's by 56 per cent in 1955, and by 1974 the differential had increased to 75 per cent.

The 1974 median earnings of women were $6,772, compared with $11,835 for men.

Although women were 32 per cent of all year-round, full-time workers in 1974, they accounted for 63 per cent of workers earning between $3,000 and $4,999, and for 58 per cent of those earning $5,000 to $6,999. Women made up only five per cent of the workers earning $15,000 or more.

The publication notes two primary factors which have contributed to the widening gap: continued concentration of women in low-skilled, low-paying occupations, and a dynamic rise in women's labor force participation which has resulted in a larger proportion of women in or near the entry level of jobs.

with twinkling lights.

After the ceremonies a reception was held for 250 members and guests in the dining hall and dance music was provided by the "Starlighters" Band.

Among the guests was Jill Harbison of Bridgeton, Mo., who is grand Bethel Junior Princess of Missouri, Richard Stags, worthy master of Masonic Lodge 835, Lloyd Lewis, Watchman of Shepherds of Gabriel Shrine 78, and many officers and guardians from Wood River, Edwardsville and 23 visiting Job's Daughters.

In commenting on the earnings gap, Women's Bureau Director Carmen E. Mayni said it indicates that employment gains women have made recently in securing higher-level and better-paying positions have not been significant enough to start a trend toward closing the gap.

She stressed a need for "renewed action to open more training and employment to women in the high-paying professional, technical, managerial and craft occupations."

NAMEOKI SCHOOL PUPILS: The cast of "Mr. Scrooge Finds Christmas" directed by Richard Barnett fifth grade teacher for the Christmas PTA meeting held at the school for parents and classmates.

STUDENT CHORUS: Sixth grade classes of Harry Briggs Jr., Eugene Monahan and Robert Pawlak singing Christmas selections at the December PTA meeting. Accompanying the group is Mrs. Mildred Hediger, music teacher.

Nameoki PTA views student program

"Mr. Scrooge Finds Christmas" an adaptation from "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens was presented by the fifth grade students of Richard Barnett, at the December Nameoki School PTA meeting. Mrs. Mildred Hediger, music director at the school, accompanied the sixth grade chorus as they sang several holiday selections.

Members of the cast included Deron Boyd, Marc Allen, Janice Carren, Lauri Manchino, Chris Bailey, Ken Hovey, Beth Jones, Randy Coleman, Richard Skubish, Eddie Thomas, Robbie Shelton, Darin Partney, Jay Smith, Daryl May, Debbie Stradey, Fran Wilkinson, Jennifer Gaumer, Karen Holston, Bryan Poole, Maria Quante, Dawn Taylor, Mike Ozanich, Darla Bolt, Rene Niesseger, Laura Chennault, Carmen Wadlow, Mark Messaros, Mark Foley, Scott Speck, and Shari Crumblley.

The chorus sang, "Go Tell It On The Mountain," "Donna Nobis Pacem," "Silent Night," "The Wassail Song," "Silver Bells," "White Christmas," and "Do You Hear What I Hear," and "Christmas Everywhere" with bell players, Lori Halbert, Jane Kraus, Barbara Detmer, Paula Huffman, Gina Lane, Kara Winters and Janette Vaughn. Harry Briggs Jr. is the sixth grade teacher.

Mrs. Fran Kingston, president, conducted the meeting and reminded the parents of the Monday sports or exercise program held from 7 to 9 p.m. She also announced the executive board will meet on Jan. 4 at 3:30 p.m. and the next school skating party is set for Jan. 20.

After the program Mrs. Kingston officially presented a glass trophy case to Don Kopp, school principal, which had been purchased by the PTA.

Joe Stephens hosts holiday party

The Past Matrons of New Hope Chapter 432, Order of Eastern Star, entertained their husbands at a yuletide dinner party last week hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Joe (Sara) Stephens in their home.

Guests participated in a gift exchange following dinner. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Mueller, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Janssen, Mr. and Mrs. Al Woodard, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Whitworth, and Estella McBrien, Louise Kirk, Carol Hildebrand, Louise Anderson, Gertrude Lowery.

Sr. Citizen Club re-elects officers

Mrs. Kathryn Smithson and Mrs. Ella Wade were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, by members of the Senior Citizen Tuesday Club during a Christmas dinner party held last week at the Tri-Mor Bowl.

Fifty-seven members attended the social event. After dinner games were played and prizes were awarded to 18 winners.

The next meeting will be held at 1 p.m. on Jan. 4 at Tri-Mor.

Christmas luncheon

Members of Circle Three 36 of the First United Presbyterian Church held a Christmas luncheon at the church last week with 19 members and six visitors present.

Mrs. Dee Roberts presented a program called "Christmas Memories" and Mrs. Mildred Kirsch played four selections on the piano.

NATIONAL LEAD FIRE
Granite City firemen fought a fire for one hour and 10 minutes last week after sparks from a hot metal pot of lead caught dust in the ceiling beams ablaze at the Hoyt Plant of N.L. Industries (National Lead), 16th Street and Cleveland Boulevard. Damage was estimated at $100.

Pomp won't suit Carter circumstance

(Boston Globe)

It is unlikely that President-elect Carter will ride the new Washington subway the way Gov. Michael Dukakis rode the MBTA to the State House in Boston, or that he'll trade the White House fleet of limousines for California Gov. Jerry Brown's chauffeurless Plymouth.

But Jimmy Carter insists he will be a citizen president in the Jacksonian mold, beginning with his insistence on the problems of the common man.

The intent is laudable; the diminution of the imperial presidency, crucial.

For too long, Americans have seen their president as a man apart, practicing an insider's kind of politics disconnected from their daily concerns and their perceptions of the nation's problems.

Their view has been accurate and often shared by the occupants of the White House who felt themselves sealed from the contamination of the commonplace.

Treated to every conceivable luxury and convenience, any man in the White House, in his mortality or the fallibility of individual judgment.

This perception of nearomnipotence, perhaps naively fed by the media with the saturation coverage of the presidency, has, in the past, created expectations that cannot be filled.

Inevitably, disillusion sets in and the man, elected in a spirit of hope, becomes a disappointment before his term expires.

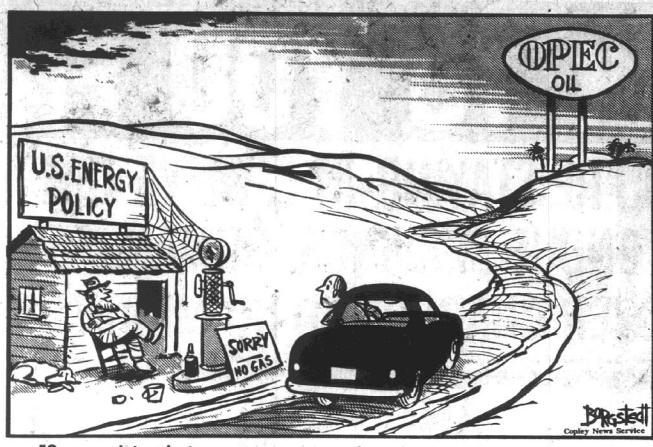

By consciously changing some of the symbols of the presidency as he takes office, Mr. Carter may lower the public's expectations to more reasonable dimensions—and place not only himself but his administration back in scale.

Informal dress and $5 tickets on inauguration day may even remind people, including some of the millions who didn't vote on election day, that the nation's politics can be their business after all.

Mr. Carter's inauguration will set the tone for an administration he promises will be democratic in substance as well as style.

The ceremony should be simple, befitting a nation in

"Sorry, mister, but you can count on them foreigners down the road"

Vital to devise economical conversion of coal to gas, oil

The on-again, off-again state civic center and Alton locks and dam replacement and the off-again, on-again Columbia-Waterloo airport have new company: the federal pilot plant at New Athens to convert coal into oil and synthetic gas.

There have been high hopes for the New Athens facility because Illinois has abundant high-sulfur coal and the new process would eliminate excess sulfur.

It had been announced that work would begin in 1977 and be completed by 1980, employing 1,000 during construction and 260 to operate the plant. At its peak, the plant theoretically would take in 2,600 tons of coal a day and produce from it 3,500 barrels of oil and 22,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The federal Energy Research and Development Administration has contracted with the Consoil Co. of New York, a Union Carbide Corp. subsidiary, to build the plant. The agency now feels "high technological risks and marginal economics make it unattractive to make any commitment beyond completion of the process design." The plant may be delayed two years or scrapped altogether, ERDA said Friday.

While efficient use of tax dollars requires officials to move cautiously when on unproven ground, the unique nature of the project would seem to justify a bit of gambling to perfect the gasification technique.

Environmentally-acceptable domestic fuel supplies are so limited, imports are so uncertain and the coal supply so vast that it seems imperative to explore the plant's feasibility further if there is some likelihood of success.

Certainly, rising costs of Arabian oil could enhance the economic attractiveness of the St. Clair County project between now and the early 1980s.

Less parking on Fehling could worsen overall congestion

New parking restrictions along the southeastern side of Fehling Road from State Street to Naneek Road may prove self-defeating. Intended to "eliminate traffic congestion," the ban may make congestion worse by forcing spectators to park in the nearby stadium by giving spectators inadequate parking places.

Although Fehling traffic is somewhat tight when there is parking along both sides of the curving thoroughfare, there is room for two-way use during such times.

Some adjacent streets are narrower and pose more serious problems if stadium parking overflows from Fehling due to the new law.

Although most people thought it was justified ten years ago to use part of Wilson Park for the vehicles attracted by a park-related facility, the ice skating recreation center, it would be a shame to see further parking encroachment on the joint campus of Coolidge Junior High School and Granite City High School South. There is a substantial area of greenery, but the campus is not excessively large in view of the activities of students and the diversity of activities.

If it boils down to Fehling parking or blacktopping part of the school grounds, continued street parking would appear to be the better choice by a wide margin.

Perhaps what some Fehling residents in effect are saying is they would rather see the joint South-North stadium located elsewhere within the school district.

Deficiencies in 'alternatives' to new Alton locks and dam

Post-Dispatch Comment: The General Accounting Office has found deficiencies in all three plans to rehabilitate Locks and Dam 26 at Alton, although, with modifications, the three plans could add 50 years of life to the present Mississippi River traffic facilities.

The study prepared for the GAO by a New York engineering firm does not entirely justify claims of victory by those proposing alternatives to a new lock and dam.

Illinois officials, representing the nation's second largest railroad state, were quick to say that the GAO had verified the feasibility of their alternative. They proposed to install a new 1,200-foot lock in the middle of the existing dam and to repair the latter at a cost estimated at $90,000,000.

The GAO report says that plan does not include adequate costs for dam repair and the price tag should be $182,600,000.

The Western Railroad Association also claimed support for its proposal to repair the present facilities at a cost of $52,742,100. The GAO study says this plan is based on several assumptions that need to be confirmed, and the repairs could run as high as $54,900,000.

Moreover, this plan would not provide for expanded barge traffic in a bottleneck locking system where long delays now are frequent.

Finally, the Army Engineers had reluctantly proposed rehabilitating the existing structure, while keeping traffic open, as an alternative to their earlier plan to build an entirely new dam and lock two miles downstream.

The cost of rehabilitation was placed at $473,000,000 — even more than the estimated $400,000,000 price of a new lock and dam. The GAO study finds that rehabilitation estimate to be $132,000,000 too high, and the probable cost to be $49,000,000 below the all-new cost.

While the GAO concludes that two of the plans are estimated to cost too little rather than too much, what stands out is that each was prepared in the self-interest of the proponents, and each would succeed only upon granting some basic assumptions and modifications.

In reviewing the GAO report, Congress may conclude that this is no way to build a dam, or to serve the Midwest's important riverway system.

(Committee on Courts and Justice)

Until the 1960s, virtually all state court judges were appointed.

In 1832, Missouri became the first state to elect all judges.

And in 1846, New York led a change from gubernatorial and legislative appointment to the election of state court judges on a political party basis.

Today, the trend is toward election to the judiciary was high but he did not give a similar favorable report on most of the elected state courts.

When the Englishman James Bryce wrote his great two-volume work, "The American Commonwealth," at the close of the century, he said that the prestige of the appointed federal judiciary was high but he did not give a similar favorable report on most of the elected state courts.

State regent is chapter guest

The Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met during the weekend at Charlie's Restaurant with Mrs. J. Kennedy Kincaid, state regent and 14 members attending the luncheon. Mrs. Janet Wilson, chapter regent, led the opening ceremonies and the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Eva Meier presented a memorial service in honor of the late Mrs. Leona Tate, a member who died on Nov. 29. Mrs. Ruth McCarty read the President General's message for the month.

Mrs. Kincaid formally welcomed Mrs. Alline Patterson and Mrs. Georgia Engels to membership in the group. Mrs. Kincaid informed the group of some new DAR statistics. As of this month, the NSDAR has a membership of 11,300 members. At the October national meeting, over 4,000 new applications for membership were received. Illinois acquired 360 new members from this total and in early January will formally activate the 12th chapter in the state. As her program, Mrs. Kincaid presented interesting facts about the development of Illinois from 1776 to its inception as a state in 1818. She who will complete her two-year term of office as state regent in March, 1977, reminded the group that her project for these years has been to issue a second supplement to the Ancestor Directory covering the years of 1960-1975. This edition should be available at the state convention on March 3-5 in Chicago.

Preparing decorations for the luncheon meeting were Mrs. Emma Schoen, Mrs. Robert Butler, and Mrs. Jane Ann Vanesier. Others in attendance were Misses Ella Ray Smith, Nelle Hart, Mary McCarty, and Meddames JoAnn Burcky, Mrs. Margaret Belt, Mrs. Barbara Williams, and Mrs. Helen Gantcheff.

Zabel.

Mrs. Jene Lybarger, president, conducted a short business meeting. Doris Fox reviewed occurrences at the November session and Ruby Streibler gave the financial report.

The president noted that money collected from the members will be used to buy gifts for the needy.

Christmas carols were sung by the group under the direction of Joyce Hayes. Mrs. Joyce Harris was the accompanist. Mrs. Lybarger announced the association next will convene on Jan. 11.

Among those receiving gifts were Anita Shebora, Evelyn Maxwell, Gladys McMahon, Pat Martin, Helene Blachoff, Mary Jo Pausett, Muriel Pausett, Betty Harrell, Dorothy Born, Joyce Hayes, Karen Sieger, Alice Hodshire and Myrtle

Frosty, Santa visit GCS Women's dinner

Frosty the Snowman and Santa Claus were holiday visitors at the Granite City Steel Women's Association's Christmas party held last week in the cafeteria at the GCS General Office Building.

Frosty sought donations from the members to purchase gifts for a needy family and Santa Claus danced along with several guest performers.

Entertainment was presented by "The Looking Glass Players" of Lebanon, Ill., who sang and danced to the music of the "Gay Nineties" up to the current era.

The 19-member company was under the direction of Mrs. Shirley Schefer and the featured vocalists were Ted Cook and Jim Morio.

The party began with a social hour when punch and hors d'oeuvres were served. Geraldine Robinson gave the invocation.

Dinner was served at tables centered with globe candles and Christmas holly and greenery with green and red crocheted flowers in colorful vases.

Decorative napkin holders and favors were made by the party committee. Two special prizes awarded were a painting, created by a member's mother, and a gift of jewelry.

Among those receiving gifts were Anita Shebora, Evelyn Maxwell, Gladys McMahon, Pat Martin, Helene Blachoff, Mary Jo Pausett, Muriel Pausett, Betty Harrell, Dorothy Born, Joyce Hayes, Karen Sieger, Alice Hodshire and Myrtle

Pack 12 holds Christmas party

A visit from Santa Claus with gifts for each of the children was a highlight of Niedringhaus School's annual Cub Scout Pack 12 Christmas party.

Each of the cub scouts and Webelos received a model car kit which they will assemble before the January pack meeting.

Christmas decorations adorned the table which held Christmas cookies and fudge provided by Den 20 served with Christmas punch.

A flag ceremony opened the meeting followed by Den One and Two singing Jingle Bells. Mike Jaycox, Webelos leader, presented Webelos ribbons to Brian Brokaw, Nathan Crane, Randy Felmeyer, Don Fisher, Phillip Hagen and Paul Macios. After receiving their ribbons, all the boys participated in an original play written by Nathan Crane.

Each of the boys brought canned goods and money they earned to give as a goodwill gesture to a deserving family whose name was provided by Niedringhaus School.

NOTICE FOR PUBLICATION TO: ERNEST DUPREE (FATHER OF DAVID DUPREE) 763-448 and to: All Whom It May Concern:

Take notice that on the 21st day of December, 1976 a petition was filed under the Juvenile Court Act by State's Attorney in the Circuit Court of Madison County entitled "In the interest of David Dupree, a minor", and that in Circuit courtroom at Edwardsville on the 30th day of January at the hour of 1:00, or as soon thereafter as this cause may be heard, an adjudicatory hearing will be held upon the petition to have the child declared to be a ward of the court under that Act. The court has authority in this proceeding to take from you the custody and guardianship of the minor and to appoint a guardian with power to consent to adoption of the minor.

Now, unless you appear at the hearing and show cause against the petition, the petition may be taken for confessed as against you and each of you, and an order, judgment or decree entered.

Public Notice is hereby given that on December 6, 1976, a certificate was filed in the Office of the County Clerk of Madison County, Illinois, setting forth the names and post-office addresses of all of the persons owning, conducting and transacting the business known as BUSINESS EQUIPMENT CENTER, located at 1914 State Street, Granite City, Illinois. Dated this 6th day of December, 1976.

Ruling backs handicapped employment

Attorney General William J. Scott has issued a legal opinion stating that the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority is not exempt from new provisions of the state's personnel code which call for equal employment opportunity for women, minorities and handicapped persons.

Thomas Fuller, acting director of the state's Equal Employment Opportunity Office, requested Scott's opinion.

Scott's opinion noted that new provisions contained in Public Act 79-1441, which took effect Aug. 28, 1976, do not conflict with other provisions of law that give the Highway Authority power to employ and discharge employees without regard to job classifications, qualifications and conditions established for the Department of Personnel.

Scott said no conflict exists because the new law simply provides generally for job opportunity fairness for women, minorities and handicapped persons.

The provisions apply to all constitutional offices, department, agencies, boards and commissions of state government.

Cash stolen checks here

Police are seeking an attractive woman, about 30 years of age, who has cashed at least three stolen checks, forging the name of Cheryl Clark, from whom some checks were stolen recently.

Checks for $45, and $50 were cashed by the woman last week at the Kroger Food Store, Nameoki Village Shopping Center, and a $50 check was cashed at Colonial National Bank, Ponton and Maryville roads, authorities were told.

A CHEERFUL GREETING. Students and visitors alike get a cheerful greeting as they enter Room 157 of the special education wing of Lake elementary school. The entrance to the room has been decorated by the children and teachers to resemble Santa Claus' living room as Mrs. Claus bids a welcome. Seated on the left is Miss Jill Thompson, teacher, and Mrs. JoAnn Townzen, teachers-aid.

SANTA'S WORKSHOP. Directly across from Santa's home in the special education wing at Lake School is Santa's workshop. Seated at the work table where the toys are made are Miss Anne Hartzel and Mark St.

Ivany, both TMH (Trainable Mentally Handicapped) teachers. In addition to the children helping decorate the rooms and halls in a festive spirit were Mrs. Paula Hagnauer and Mrs. Wanda Hubble, both teachers-aides.

Law sets standards for drinking water

By VIRGINIA KNAUER
Director, U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs

You can help to monitor the public water supply that comes into your home.

If you find your drinking water unpleasant in taste, odor or appearance, first contact the water utility for an explanation. If you are not satisfied call or write your state health or environmental protection department.

If you suspect the water is actually unsafe and you want to notify the federal government after consulting with state authorities, contact Consumer Complaints, Public Information Center, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460.

A citizen "may bring civil action against any public water system or Federal agency that he or she believes is violating the Safe Drinking Water Act. Congress authorized $156 million for each of the fiscal years 1975, 1976 and 1977 to implement the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) efforts to detect and correct hazards in drinking water.

This involves research into treatment techniques for monitoring and removing bacteria and viruses and for protecting water sources from new toxic chemicals and radioactive wastes.

Most conventional treatment plants (originally built to protect water from more "single" sources of pollution) may not give adequate protection from the new chemicals that can enter and contaminate both surface and underground water.

For instance, in 1975 an EPA survey of public water supplies in 80 cities found that small quantities of organic chemicals were present in the water system in all parts of the country.

The EPA published interim primary regulations on Dec. 24, 1975, setting maximum contaminant levels permitted for bacteria, turbidity of water and a great number of organic and inorganic chemicals as well as the minimum number of times that drinking water must be sampled.

A schedule of revised regulations, based on a study of the health effects of drinking water contaminants will form the basis of revised primary regulations scheduled to be proposed in 1977 and to become effective in 1979 - allowing 2 years for implementation.

You should be aware of notices in your water bills and in your local newspaper that concern variances from the requirements of drinking water regulations.

The amount of disease - such as salmonellosis and gastroenteritis - as well as typhoid and cholera, caused by contaminated drinking water in the period of 1961-1973 has been estimated to be from 55,000 cases to 550,000 cases - a spread of 10 fold.

On the other hand, the largest single factor in the dramatic decline of typhoid since 1900 has been the implementation of public water purification and supply systems.

For the more information about the quality of drinking water, you may want the free publication called "A Drop To Drink."

Send your request to Public Information Center, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460; phone 202-735-0850.

Happy Bunch learns metric

The Happy Bunch Senior Citizen group of the First Baptist Church in Madison participated in a metric workshop on four Tuesday mornings at the church. This workshop was sponsored by the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Teacher Corps in Madison as one of a number of similar metric workshops offered as part of a community involvement project.

The SIUE Teacher Corps interns who organized and taught the workshop are Jacques Engberg, Earline McCormick, Willie Ivory, and Earline Wilson under the supervision of Sara Pope.

The metric workshop was a practical utility kind of learning situation using everyday materials to make the new measurement standards more meaningful.

This workshop concludes the series of metric workshops offered to different groups throughout the Madison school district for the past two months.

There is a possibility that additional workshops will be offered in the spring to interested groups. For additional information, persons may call the Teacher Corps office at 877-6864.

Scott fighting nuclear power plant near dunes

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott is taking new legal action to prevent construction of the Bailey Nuclear Power Plant adjacent to the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore.

Scott, acting for the state of Illinois, joined with a number of environmental groups to petition the United States Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) to suspend and revoke Northern Indiana Public Service Company's construction permit for the proposed nuclear power plant.

Scott said "significant new factual and legal developments" have occurred over the two-and-one-half-year period since the NIPSC was given permission to construct the Bailey plant.

These include: admissions by the power company that the cost of building the plant has risen from $180 million to at least $675 million; admissions and new evidence from the company that the power to be generated by the plant will not be needed until about 1985 instead of 1979, as previously concluded by the Atomic Energy Commission; and recent court decisions that NRC procedures for considering the environmental impact of nuclear waste disposal and energy conservation were not complete enough to conform with federal law. Scott said the state believes that these new developments alter the cost-benefit analysis the NRC must perform before permitting construction of a nuclear power plant, and "cast serious doubt on the wisdom" of building the Bailey Nuclear Power Plant.

He explained that the state believes these developments require a new and detailed examination of the NRC's decision to permit construction of a nuclear plant at the site, and an immediate suspension of construction until that examination is completed.

In filing the petition, Scott once again joined the Porter County Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, Concerned Citizens Against Bailey Nuclear Site, Business and Professional People for the Public Interest, and the City of Gary, Ind., all of whom have filed similar petitions in what has become a five-year controversy over the decision to build a nuclear power plant adjacent to the Indiana Dunes.

In addition to the parties of established record mentioned above, the Lake Michigan Federation has decided to oppose construction of the Bailey Plant and also has filed a petition before the NRC. Scott said he hopes the NRC will act on the petitions within the next several months.

New terminal building for Bi-State Airport

The Bi-State Development Agency will receive nearly $2 million in federal public works funds for a new terminal building and other major improvements at Bi-State Parks Airport, Cahokia.

Paul Schuler, president, and Robert J. Baer, executive director of Bi-State, made the announcement Friday after receiving notification from Congressman Melvin Price (D) Illinois, that the Economic Development Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce had approved a grant of $1,696,000 for the airport projects.

The funds are being made available on a 100 per cent basis under Title I of the Local Public Works Capital Development and Investment Act of 1976 authorizing grants to state or local governmental units for local public works projects that will create jobs and stimulate new employment opportunities. Baer said the funds will be used for construction of a new 8,000-square-foot public terminal building, paved access road and aircraft parking areas, and 14,000 square feet of public parking facilities — as well as related transportation, water and sewer improvements — to provide "a significant step forward in the full commercial development of Bi-State Parks Airport."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Mon., Dec. 27, 1976 Page 32

The airport, located on the northern boundary of the Village of Cahokia, less than ten minutes from St. Louis, is a general aviation facility and serves as a major reliever airport for general aviation aircraft.

Baer said Bi-State has become increasingly aware of the airport's potential as an air commuter facility for the St. Louis region due to its proximity to downtown St. Louis and numerous activity centers in Southwestern Illinois.

"Its strategic location with respect to major rail and highway corridors in the region makes it a natural area for commercial and industrial development," Baer said. "It's a real diamond in the rough."

"The program will not only create immediate employment in the construction area, but will also have a significant and long-term effect on jobs associated with future airport and commercial development, with benefits many times exceeding the initial grant amount."

"Approval of this grant is a critical and integral part of our long-term improvements program for the airport which was unanimously endorsed by the Bi-State Board of Commissioners in October."

"We are following up with a $2.8 million program for fiscal year 1977 with the Federal Aviation Administration and the Illinois Department of Transportation which will provide improved public surface transportation into and out of the airport and eliminate the troublesome grade crossing at the Missouri-Pacific tracks in the area."

'Circuit breaker' tax forms mailed

Forms that Illinois citizens will use in 1977 to file state income taxes and apply for grants provided by the Circuit Breaker Law are going into the mail now, according to State Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin.

The first of 410,000 forms that will be used by senior and disabled citizens to file for property and additional tax relief went into the mail Thursday. The remainder will be in the mail early this week. Distribution of the more than 45 million state income tax booklets that will be sent to Illinois income taxpayers will begin this week. All of the income tax booklets are expected to be in the mail by Jan. 7, he added.

Alphin said senior and disabled citizens will find this year's Circuit Breaker forms more convenient.

The department for the first time has put the program's instructions, claim forms and information in a 12-page booklet whose format is similar to the state income tax booklet.

Also included is a pre-addressed envelope which can be used to submit the Circuit Breaker claim form. The director said use of the new envelope insures that claims are forwarded to the correct address, eliminating delays. Circuit Breaker claims can be filed by senior and disabled citizens beginning Jan. 1.

The state's Senior Citizens and Disabled Persons Property Tax Relief Act, known as the Circuit Breaker Law, provides up to $500 a year in property tax relief and $100 a year in additional tax relief.

Illinois citizens 65 or older or disabled who have an annual household income of less than $10,000 are eligible to file for such tax relief.

Alphin said this year's income tax booklets "contain few changes, which should make filing easier for taxpayers."

Illinois income tax forms (IL1040) and instructions also will be available at district offices of the revenue department, and Internal Revenue Service offices, by the first of the year. Other locations will be announced.

Circuit Breaker applications also will be available at area agency offices of the Department on Aging and at numerous community service organizations.
